JOHNSTON-POWERS WIN

ROGERS FLEES FROM TALKIE "BRIGANDAGE"

(Special To The News)

WICHITA, Kan., Sept. 18.—Breakfast at Beverly Hills and dinner last night at Wichita. Plane full of passengers and fine trip. This morning will just hop down to Claremore.

They was opening my first talking picture last night in Los Angeles and charging those poor people five dollars, and I just couldn't stand by and be a party to such brigandage.

First night audiences pay their moneys to look at each other, so if they get stuck tonight, they can't blame me. It will be because they don't look good to each other.

Yours,

WILL.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Pa Newc heard several loud explosions, yesterday, and upon inquiry, he found that two half sticks of dynamite were used to shatter a cement structure at the excavation of the new retail store on North Jefferson street. Two tressles were first placed on the strip of cement and a plank was laid across the planks. After the workmen were through work for the day, and no one was near, the dynamite was placed in drilled holes and exploded. The plank kept the pieces of rock from flying into the street.

Hanna Wins Out On Democratic Ticket In Sheriff Race

Jury Commissioner Undecided; Clarence Patterson Nominated For District Attorney

William R. Hanna won the Democratic nomination for sheriff over Horace P. Stone at Tuesday's primary. Figures with about a half dozen precincts missing give Hanna 426 and Stone 247. The contest in the city was very close, but the country precincts were in Hanna's favor by a little over two to one.

For the Democratic nomination for jury commissioner William Newswander apparently carried the country districts and C. M. Bohn the city. In the city the vote was 69 for Newswander and 137 for Bohn. No total figures have been compiled for the county, but a casual inspection of the returns seem to indicate that Newswander won out in the country. In the absence of totals at this time the result must await the official count.

For district attorney the Democratic nomination was won by Attorney Clarence Patterson, who had no opposition.

Returns show that a great many names were written in on the Democratic ballots, some of them for Republican candidates.

No figures are available on the Prohibition ticket.

YORK, Pa., Sept. 18.The regular Republican organization suffered at least one defeat in the state, on a basis of returns today. Robert S. Frey, backed by the organization headed by former State Treasurer Samuel S. Lewis, was defeated by Ralph S. Fisher, for district attorney. In a hot fight, the Democrats renominated District Attorney Amos W. Herrmann over Andrew J. Hershey, Samuel S. Laucks and Spencer D Wareheim.

Treser Highest In City Council Vote At Primary

Genkinger Is Other Party Nominee For Place On Council

GREER IS WINNER FOR CONTROLLER

Dr. Cleland, Mrs. Douthett And Bauman Are Nominees For School Board

Finishing with plenty of votes to spare, W. Stanley Treser and Louis G. Genkinger were nominated as the Republican candiates for council in the primary held on Tuesday, September 17. Their success was never in doubt, once the returns began coming in and the only question for a time was which of the pair would be high. Treser received 4380 votes, Genkinger 3569.

Treser, a civil engineer of the firm of Treser and Treser, ran like the proverbial "steer in a corn field." It was his second quest for the nomination, being defeated in 1927, but this time he was not to be denied. At the very outset he took a commanding lead and swept through the city, piling up his lead as he went. He was as strong in the upper North Hill wards as he was in the southern wards and his victory is one that is not gained by any sectional vote. Genkinger is a veteran in New Castle politics. He has been in city council several times, and was defeated for mayor.

Other Council Candidates

While there was a wide difference between second and third place, John M. Gardner finished third with 2600 votes. D. O. Davies who has served two terms as a councilman finished in fourth place with 2281 votes. The compilation for city council on the Republican ticket follows:

Treser	4380
Genkinger	3569
Gardner	2600
Davies	2281
Lusk	1734
McMillin	1671
Gibson	967
Young	373

Greer Wins Easily

In the race for City Controller, Phil G. Greer won an easy victory over his opponents W S. Rice and M. F. Melder. Mr. Greer received 4341 votes as against 3749 for Rice and 1137 for Melder. By a coincidence, Tuesday, September 17 was Mr. Greer's birthday and the Republican voters handed him a birthday gift that is appreciated.

He was appointed to the office of city controller about 18 months ago when the then controller, Alvah L. Porter passed away suddenly. The tabulated vote on city controller follows:

Greer	4341
Rice	3749
Melder	1137

Country Club In Pittsburgh Burns

Exclusive St. Clair Club House Destroyed With Loss Of $200,000 Today

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 18.—Fire, visible for ten miles, early today destroyed the St. Clair Country club buildings on the Washington road, near Clifton. Loss of the clubhouse, equipment and personal effects of members is estimated at more than $200,000.

An entire wing of the structure was ablaze when the flames were discovered by John Murphy, club steward. Fire departments of Dormont and Mt. Lebanon were powerless to save the property, as they soon exhausted the scant water supply of the standpipe.

While Mrs. Murphy called for aid, Mr. Murphy awakened four locker boys and five porters, who were asleep

No Servants Here

ISHBEL MACDONALD

Premier RAMSAY MACDONALD

By ALICE BERNADETTA WALL
Central Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald's daughter Ishbel (now don't repeat this for the world) "does her own work" at her father's home in Lossiemouth, Scotland.

They keep no servants—not even a servant.

This information is official—from an official source, at least. An unimpeachable one. That is to say the fact that Miss MacDonald's have no servant is. The detail that Miss MacDonald does her own work was not quite so bluntly put. However, it is obvious that, lacking a single servant she must.

Capital Hostess Hopeful.

Nevertheless, the Washington hostesses who are privileged to entertain the British premier's 23-year-old daughter—she is a charming girl, as all can testify who met her when she was here with her father some time before the latter had attained,

Vare Cohorts Triumphant In Philadelphia

G. O. P. Organization Wins Overwhelming Victory In All City Districts

EVERY CANDIDATE GIVEN BIG MAJORITY

Vare Followers Win 40 Out Of 48 Wards Over Mayor Mackey's Republican Group

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 18.—The G. O. P. organization built up by Senator-elect William S. Vare triumphed overwhelmingly in yesterday's city primary nominating all candidates by majorities in excess of 170,000 incomplete returns revealed today. Nominations are tatamount to election due to the small number of Democrats in the city.

Forty out of 48 wards in the city turned in pluralities for the Vare followers despite the efforts of the Republican league group led by Thomas Reaburn White and Mayor Harry A. Mackey, formerly campaign manager for Vare, in the disputed 1926 senatorial election. About 370,000 of the 500,000 registered citizens voted many being kept away from the polls by intermittent showers.

Few Irregularities

So great was the Vare landslide that very little trouble was reported at the voting booths despite the extreme bitterness of the campaign. Numerous minor complaints of irregularities were made but only in the fourth division of the 21st ward were any arrests made.

The entire election officials of this division, the judge and four inspec-

Panic Follows Bomb Blasts In Cleveland

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, Sept. 18. — Three bomb explosions threw East Side Cleveland in a panic early today and imperiled the lives of 10 persons who were sleeping in their homes.

The blasts, all three of which were set off at almost the same instant, shattered windows and damaged plastering in homes for blocks around. They are believed, according to police, to have been the result of a neighborhood quarrel.

Two bombs, which were placed under the home of John Gnidec, 51, tore a hole in the wall of his bedroom. Gnidec was thrown from his bed by the force of the explosion. Three other men were in the house at the time. They were Joe Berich, 42, Mike Cich, 42, and Mike Krivdec, 44.

Six persons were in the second house that was bombed. They were James Corwin, 52, John Cowan, and his wife, Victor Kovach and his wife and their 9-year-old, son Victor, Jr.

All the occupants of the bombed homes were taken to police headquarters for questioning with regard to the explosions.

McAdoo May Run In California Next Year

(International News Service)

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 17.—Wm. G. McAdoo son-in-law of the late President Woodrow Wilson, secretary of the treasury during the Wilsonian regime and several times an aspirant for the Democratic presidential nomination may be a candidate for governor of California next year.

McAdoo if he is prevailed upon to run will enter the gubernatorial fray under the Bourbon standard in an attempt to bring back prestige and power to the Democratic party in state politics according to reports here.

Cries Of Fraud Follow Primary In Pittsburgh

Mayor Kline Is Renominated In Election That Was Bitter Fight

PLURALITY MAY BE ABOUT 25,000

Investigations Are Expected To Follow As Result Of Charges

By C. B. YORKE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 18.—With the cry of "fraud" echoing in the wake of the smashing victory scored by Mayor Charles H. Kline in his race for the Republican mayoralty nomination here, indications were this morning that Kline's plurality would reach 25,000 before the final total was compiled.

Unofficial returns from 694 of the city's 741 precincts gave Kline 69,039; Judge Richard W. Martin 46,889 and James F. Malone 44,520.

Chaos reigned throughout the city yesterday as thousands of voters disputed with selection officials and watchers in an effort to cast their ballots although many of them had been affected by the court order declaring their assessments illegal and branding tax receipts issued against the allegedly fraudulent assessments null and void.

Cries of Fraud

Today echoes of the cry of "fraud" were plainly heard as the vote count progressed. Returns showed that apparently many of the selection boards throughout the city ignored the court order to challenge all voters whose names were in the 26 assessment books which were said to list phantom voters.

In view of the widely circulated charges of "fraud," county commissioner C. C. McGovern, stormy petrel of the board, was working with the Allegheny county elections association today in an effort to have the return sheets photostated so that forgeries could not be made. McGovern in a fiery statement charged

The entire Kline slate for council and other city offices was nominated, according to unofficial returns.

Lindy and Wife Start Long Trip

(International News Service)

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., Sept. 18.—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, accompanied by his wife, the former Anne Morrow, took off from this field about 9 o'clock this morning on the first leg of a 9,000 mile flight through Central and South America.

Piloting a speedy Lockheed-Vega monoplane the colonel will fly to Miami without making a stop.

From Miami the colonel will pilot one of the Pan American mail and passenger planes over a new commercial route established in Central and South America.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh arrived at Bolling field at 10:15 o'clock today, completing the first leg of his long flight to Central America. He completed the trip from New York in a little more than two hours.

After an hour's stay at Bolling field he planned to take off again southward, with some point in North Carolina, probably Winston Salem, as his next stopping place.

FOREST FIRES CONTINUE TO RAGE IN CALIFORNIA

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 18.— With three persons missing, another near death and 500 homeless, forest fires which already have caused a tremendous damage were unchecked today.

Continued dry weather was threatening increased damage in Ventura county where flames swept through an oil field and destroyed the homes of 500 oil workers. The flames continue to threaten Santa Paula, numerous other towns and several of the richest Southern California oil towns.

A heat wave which has hung over the southern part of California for the past few days has seriously handicapped the firefighting crews. Six of the fire fighters have been prostrated from the heat.

New blazes were spreading through Orange county, sweeping down Santa Ana Canyon, threatening citrus groves, farms and villages of Olive and Peralta.

Ranch buildings, a summer resort in Goose Valley and thousands of dollars in crops were destroyed by a forest and brush fire in San Diego county. The blaze was still out of control early today.

Santa Barbara is endangered by another uncontrolled fire in the Santa Barbara National Forest which was slowly working its way toward the city.

A heavy pall of smoke hangs over Los Angeles like a dense blanket of fog.

FIVE NATIONS MUST APPROVE NAVAL PACT

By ROBERT W. THOMPSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Sept. 18.—Word was officially broadcast to the naval powers of the world today that any disarmament agreement reached between Great Britain and the United States will be dependent for its success upon the sanction of France, Italy and Japan.

Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald has notified the French, Italian and Japanese governments through their ambassadors in London that steps have been taken to invite these three nations to participate in a five-power naval disarmament conference to be held in London late in January.

The invitations have been issued through the British ambassador in Paris, Tokio and Rome. As partner in the disarmament preliminaries the United States government will dispatch similar invitations through its accredited representatives at the three capitals.

In no uncertain terms the invitations declared that success of this disarmament effort was contingent entirely upon the full and sympathetic co-operation of the three other powers. In particular it was pointed out that their consideration was needed on the question of limiting the tonnage of destroyers and submarines.

Republicans Win Clash Over Tariff

Shown Winner In First Test Vote In Senate On Issue

PROGRESS SLOW ON MEASURE HOWEVER

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18—Having won a clean-cut victory in the first test over administrative features of the new tariff bill, Republican leaders of the senate today faced with greater confidence other on-coming clashes over the new tariff bill.

Two of these involve the barring of convict goods, and the barring of plants or farm products currently subject to pests or blights.

Progress on the bill meanwhile was slow, chiefly because of the absence of some senators and the flights of oratory of those present. Only minor administrative amendments have been adopted in the main.

On Test Vote

The Republican victory, by a test vote, came on a new provision, calling for the marking of all imported articles with the name of the country of their origin. A like provision stands in existing law but much controversy has arisen over enforcement of the act. The new provision would authorize the secretary of the treasury to issue regulations for the marking and to permit certain specified exceptions, when the marking might be prohibitive in cost or injurious to the imported article.

At first, the senate approved the house provision, giving the secretary of the treasury wide discretion in making exceptions. The vote was 28 to 38 against the Republican leadership. This action was reconsidered

Torch Murder Case Is Opened By State Today

District Attorney Coyne Charges Killing Was Premeditated By Young Peacox

OUTLINES DETAILS OF CRIME TO JURY

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

COURT HOUSE, WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Sept. 18.—Earl Francis Peacox, the boyish-looking defendant on trial for the murder of his 20-year old wife, Dorothy, on their first wedding anniversary, killed his wife with "premeditation" and not "in the flash of an eye" as he claims, District Attorney Frank H. Coyne declared in making the opening address to the jury today.

Reading the salient points of the indictment to the jury, Coyne, asserted the state will prove Peacox on April 21 last did with deliberation "mortally choke, suffocate and strangle his wife Dorothy."

The courtroom was thronged to capacity as Coyne launched his ringing address.

Just before Coyne made his opening statement defense attorney Syd-

SOME SURPRISE OVER STATEMENT

Formal Invitations Not As Yet Sent To Italy, France, Japan

(International News Service)

LONDON, Sept. 18.—Surprise was sprung here this afternoon when after an apparent authentic announcement that France, Italy and Japan were being formally invited to a five power naval limitation conference, it was learned from an official source that the final, formal invitations would not be handed to the three governments until after the meeting of President Hoover and Premier MacDonald in Washington.

News from all sources early in the day indicated that the British ambassadors to Rome, Paris and Tokio had been instructed to acquaint Italy, France and Japan with progress of the disarmament negotiations between the United States and England ad extend official invitations for them to participate.

International News Service learned that official invitations will be deferred as a matter of routine and not because any decisive developments are expected to alter the plans already made.

French, Italian and Japanese governments will be informed of the discussions held by President Hoover and Premier MacDonald at Washington so that all may enter the parley with full knowledge of existing situation and without any fear of an understanding between Washington and London.

Pritchard's Vote Is Day's Surprise In County Returns

Miss Hutton Wins Renomination By Large Vote Over Opponents

KENNEDY LEADS BY ABOUT 100 VOTES

Larger Vote Is Polled In County Than Had Been Anticipated

Piling up a total of 9978 votes, Attorney John S. Powers, one of the younger attorneys at the Lawrence County Bar was nominated by the Republican voters for the office of District Attorney. Mr. Ailey received 7567 votes, a gratifying vote, but not sufficient to win.

In the primary election Tuesday, Powers carried both the city and the county. In the city of New Castle he received 5800 votes and in the county outside of the city, 4178 votes. Ailey got 3698 in the city and 3869 in the county outside the city. The Democrats nominated Attorney Clarence A. Patterson.

Johnston For Sheriff.

In the sheriff fight, Frank N. Johnston, a contender four years ago came through handily winning by a vote of 5103 as against 3953 for Edward D. Pritchard his nearest opponent.

Pritchard was the surprise candidate, not alone of the sheriff fight but of the entire Republican primary. Entering the race with little support but that of his circle of intimate friends, he gained by leaps and bounds and from a hopeless outsider he forged to within striking distance of the goal he sought. His finishing is a feat of which he can be proud and he will undoubtedly be heard from later.

Mr. Johnston has had considerable experience in the sheriff's office. He was a deputy under his brother, Sheriff Carl Johnston, and also under Sheriff Will G. Andrews. For some years he has been a game protector in this section of the state.

Jack M. Dunlap, thought to be one of the first two, was unable to do better than third place, getting 3679 votes. He is a former county detective and is now the juvenile and parole officer. Present Chief Deputy Sheriff William McK. Reynolds finished fourth, County Detective William G. Fleming fifth, George S. Kennedy sixth and Mark Butler last.

The tabulated total for sheriff follows:

Johnston	5103
Pritchard	3953
Dunlap	3679
Reynolds	2407
Fleming	1997
Kennedy	1023
Butler	228

In the Democratic primary, William Hanna won out over Horace Phillips Stone.

Majority Winner.

In the race for register and recorder there was not even a semblance of trouble for the present incumbent, Miss Jeannette W. Hutton. Miss Hutton received 8993 votes, more than her combined opposition, the three men opposing her receiving but 8267 votes.

The lucky lads are glad today, their smiles are inches wide, they want the world to know they're glad, their joy they cannot hide. They fought the fight and fought it well, but someone had to lose, and in the naming of the men, 'twas mighty hard to choose. The fight was clean, the fight was hard, it's over now ye ken and we will hear but little now from candidating men. I hope the lads you voted for were nominated all, but if they weren't, you really should be sporting in the fall. The fight is over, votes are in, let's shout hip hip hooray, and hope that everyone is glad, it's sixty-eight today.

Forecast Change In Line-Up When Council Forms

City Hall Officials Reluctant To Discuss Situation Which Will Result In January

DAVIES AND TYLER WILL BE SUPPLANTED

W. Stanley Treser and Louis Genkinger, Republican nominees for council at the November election are well known in city hall and to the citizens who have had reason to visit the building on business affairs. For years Treser was connected with the city engineering department and by vocation is a civil engineer. Genkinger served as councilman many years ago and only recently served another term.

The outgoing councilmen in January are D. O. Davies and W. V. Tyler.

Davies is superintendent of the department of public safety which consists of the fire department and department of health.

Tyler is the purchasing agent and superintendent of the department of buildings and grounds.

Treser Is Engineer

Although no persons in city hall today would discuss the probable line-up there was some talk outside city hall.

It would not be surprising were a revamping of the superintendents made when council convenes in January.

It is not known if Reeves would desire a change from the streets to the department of parks and buildings.

Treser is an engineer and it would not be surprising were he willing to assume the duties as head of the department of streets.

Genkinger once held the post and might aspire to become head of the department of public safety.

All this however, is problematical and it will not be known until council meets in January what posts they will assume.

Will Sit In On Budget

Another question which generally bobs up when new solons are elected is the budget meeting.

After the election and it has been decided who the new councilmen are to be, it is probable they will be invited to sit with the present force.

The old council can set the budget but it will be the new council which will actually expend the money of the citizens.

Should the two Republican nominees be elected the next administration for two years will consist of:

Mayor, William H. Gillespie and councilmen, William T. Burns, Clayton H. Reeves, Louis Genkinger and Albert Treser.

for a second time to his present high post—will have their social status in capital society fixed at the very top of the ladder, for man's the season to come.

Neither will there be any argument over the question of Miss MacDonald's own status here—as the British prime minister's daughter—instead of his wife.

Such social issues have been raised in Washington ere now.

Not on this occasion, however. This is different.

In fact the MacDonalds' presence will settle some local controversies. Those who are sufficiently recognized in October will be o. k. forevermore. It will sort out the crowd.

A Matter of Choice.

The English premier and his daughter will have three residences here to choose from—

First—the British embassy, which of course, will be their headquarters, as guests of Ambassador Sir Esme and Lady Isabella Howard.

The new embassy, far out on Massachusetts avenue, is not yet finished—and perhaps, for this once, it is just as well. It will be a magnificent embassy—to cost $1,000,000 when ready for occupancy—but not for a long while can it suggest Britain as the present substantial old landmark at Connecticut avenue and N street does—solid, weather beaten, but a genuine bit of London, in every line of its masonry, set down in Washington.

Secondly—the Irish Free State legation where Minister and Mrs. Michael MacWhite preside at 1800 Connecticut avenue and S street where "statesmen's row" begins—S street—"statesmain's row" indeed; on that thoroughfare, within three squares of the Emerald legation, stand the former homes of President Hoover with Senator Frederic C. Walcott of Connecticut as its present occupant; of the late ex-President Wodrow Wilson and the residences now in course of construction, of Senator David A. Reed of Pennsylvania and of Assistant Secretary of State William R. Castle.

Thirdly (and let none dispute this order of precedence for the Irish legation ante-dates the diplomatic headquarters of Our Lady of the Snows by at least two or three years) —the Canadian legation with Minister Vincent and Mrs. Massey in residence, at 1746 Massachusetts avenue.

Hoovers Chief Hosts.

Needless to say President and Mrs. Hoover will be the visitors chief American entertainers during their Washington stay.

Affairs of state apparently will not worry Miss MacDonald, though she is known to have a keen political mind and has greatly aided her father in his campaigns with her splendid speeches.

The Scotch lassie because of her mother's death has presided at No. 10 Downing street, London as well as her father's Scotch residence and his town home which he still owns in the London suburb of Hampstead.

In 1924 when Premier MacDonald was prime minister his daughter surprised the British public by her complete comprehension of the duties which fell upn her own shoulders, at the age of only 18. Now at 23 she again directs the social activities of No. 10 Downing street.

ney A. Syme asked dismissal of the indictment against Peacox, claiming the indictment did not state facts warranting a charge of first degree murder.

Justice Arthur S. Tompkins, perused the indictment and then, after a pause, said:

"The motion is denied."

Details Crime

Coyne then walked before the jury and outlined in narrative form the details of the crime and what he asserted the state would prove. He first told of a motorist having found the body of the slain girl in a woods near Scarsdale at 2:30 p. m. on April 27, six days after the murder.

In describing how the motorist, Joseph Silvey, had found the body, Coyne emphasized three words "burned," "dead," and "killed." He said that the state would prove that Peacox, fearing detection, had returned to the woods five days after he had secured the body there and, pouring kerosene on the girl's clothing, set the body afire.

"Peacox used a towel in strangling the girl," said Coyne. "She was also choked by a cord which he tied around her neck.

"We will prove that death was due to strangulation. Dr. Amos O. Squire, the medical examiner who performed the autopsy, will tell you that Dorothy Peacox died of asphyxiation. She died because the air was cut off from her lungs by a cord around her neck."

Defense States Case

Dorothy Heinzleman Peacox, slain "madcap" bride of twenty, drove her young husband, Earle Frances Peacox insane by her gay conduct in New York while they were separated, defense attorney Sidney A. Syme declared in his opening address to the jury today at the trial of Peacox for murder in the first degree.

"She was running around with other men and he simply couldn't stand it," Syme told the "blue ribbon" jury.

Peacox was "legally insane" when he killed his wife on the night of April 21 last, the first anniversary of their marriage, Syme said, in fact, he would show, the lawyer added, that Peacox was a victim of hereditary insanity."

"Two of Peacox's ancestors on the father's side, an uncle and an aunt were committed to an asylum at Utica, N. Y., said Syme. "That aunt was admitted when she was nineteen. The uncle thought he was the famous character of another generation, the 'Yellow Kid' he used to tie a tin can on his head whenever he saw pictures of the 'Yellow Kid' in the papers."

Chemists Meet In Pittsburgh To Talk Shop

By C. B. YORKE.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 18.—The latest advances in the field of electro-chemistry will be detailed for public consumption when the American-Electro-Chemical society meets here September 19, 20 and 21 for its annual convention. Delegates from all sections of the United States and a number of foreign countries will attend the sessions.

One of the features of the convention will be the explanation of the chemical formation of iron said to be the most chemically pure of any ever developed. The iron was made by Dr. T. D. Yensen, engineer in charge of the magnetic section of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company here.

More Magnetic.

According to Dr. Yensen the newly developed iron has electro magnetic properties far superior than those of the iron now in use in the electrical machinery that is being manufactured. In his address before the convention he will describe its composition and will explain how the use of the new iron will increase the efficiency of electrical machinery.

In another address Dr. Arthur S. King of the Mount Wilson Observatory, Pasadena, Cal., will narrate how electro-chemistry has aided in the advanced study of distant stars. Dr. King has developed a special electric vacuum furnace which renders metallic vapors luminous. Using this furnace in connection with his observation of distant stars Dr. King was able to study spectra more minutely than was heretofore possible.

Hydrogen Data.

Dr. King's new method also permits an extension of temperature classification far into the ultraviolet.

W. P. Dobson and A. S. L. Barnes of the Hydro-Electric Power commission of Toronto, Canada will present the latest data on the production of hydrogen for use in dirigibles by electrical decomposition of water. It is said that some of the new type cells will take as much as 15,000 amperes, producing 150 cubic feet of hydrogen an hour.

actually, a fight was waged in the last ten days of the campaign.

The success of Dr. W. D. Cleland was never in doubt at any time, once the returns began coming in. It was apparent from the start that he would lead the field, but the other two places for the six year term were in doubt until the last few precincts were heard from.

The successful candidates for the six year term were Cleland, Bauman and Douthett.

For the unexpired term of two years, made vacant by the resignation of Dr. W. L. Campbell, Daniel B. Woolcock, who was appointed was not opposed. His totals are not carried as he had no opposition.

The total vote of the city was about 4000 short of the possible vote. In all, there were about 9300 votes cast in New Castle this vote being a little higher than the 8500 vote which was forecast.

There was no ticket put up by the Democratic party for city offices, and some of the Republican candidates nominated received the nomination also from the Democrats. The only fight in this party was for the nomination for sheriff and jury commissioner, accounts of which appear in other columns.

CRIES OF FRAUD FOLLOW PRIMARY IN PITTSBURGH

that Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong was directly responsible for election frauds in the county.

McGovern declared that Armstrong had "let the people in on the secret" of controlling selections as the result of a fractional split in the ranks of the Republicans who control the city and county. Armstrong has objected to the photostating of return sheets on the ground that it would be violating the letter of the election laws.

"The spectacle here presented would be tragic if it were not comic," said McGovern's statement in part. "Commissioner Armstrong in one breath appropriated $10,000 of the people's money to the Bar Association committee to finance the proceedings which they should start to nullify this gigantic fraud, and in the next breath ordered the county solicitor, also paid from the people's money, to oppose the action which the Bar Association should take."

His reference to the "gigantic fraud" was believed to relate to the alleged assessing of voters who did not exist. The court order declaring 26 assessment books fraudulent was the result of a petition presented by the election fraud committee of the Allegheny county Bar Association after investigating charges of conspiracy to "steal" the selection for Kline.

To Guard Returns

McGovern prepared today to proceed with the photostating of return sheets, although Armstrong still vigorously opposed the action. In addition McGovern also asked Major Lynn G. Adams, superintendent of state police, at Harrisburgh, for five troopers to guard the county commissioners office today to see that the return sheets were handled honestly. Adams informed him over long distance telephone that such a request could not be considered unless it was received from the sheriff, or was supported by an order from Governor John S. Fisher.

Meanwhile the Grand jury was to continue its investigation into charges of fraudulent practices in conducting the campaign. The charges originated from Malone headquarters and were in turn taken up by followers of the Kline and Martin camps, each group claiming that the others were guilty of irregularities.

Ballot boxes in 17 wards were seized following altercations at a number of polling places. In a number of instances balloting was suspended several hours before the regular time for the polls to close as the result of disputes that could not be settled peacefully among the supporters of the various candidates.

No seriously altercations were reported although in one district in the "strip" section police were called to quell a minor riot.

On the surface it appeared that although the selection was over in the fight in the courts had just started. It was expected that those who have voiced the charge of irregularities will not be silenced by the results of the count and that various investigations will be continued until brought to a conclusion.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 18.—Mayor Charles H. Kline continued to hold his lead in the race for the Republican mayoralty nomination as returns from additional precincts were received. Indications were early this afternoon that Kline would win with a plurality of at least 25,000.

Returns from 713 of the city's 741 precincts gave:

Kline, 70,989.
Martin, 49,338.
Maline, 45,117.

Judge Richard M. Martin and James F. Malone who opposed Kline for the nomination in on of the most bitter campaigns on record, concede defeat, although maintaining that there will be some drastic readjustments in the count in some districts because of allegd irregularities during the balloting yesterday.

Other candidates running on the Kline slate continued to pile up their leads on the face of unofficial figures.

in the employes' dormitory and all set to salvaging the valuable furniture.

As the flames advanced, from their origin in the kitchen, the heat forced back rescue workers and firemen and ignited the other sections of the building.

The beacon on the crest of a hill at an elevation of about 1,300 feet attracted many spectators, among them club members who left their breakfast to motor to the scene to save the golf sticks. David McCormick, club pro, had already removed the clubs, however, and also the handicap book.

The fire will not kill the auction pool tournament in which 22 foursomes are scheduled to play next Saturday.

A. C. Mills, president of the club, said plans for rebuilding will be taken up immediately. The loss was covered by insurance.

3 Young Sisters Run A Ranch And Do Good Job Of It

TURLOCK, Calif., Sept. 18.—Three young women, typically modern, have incited the envy and admiration of farmers of this region.

In fact, the Austin sisters—Violet, Lily and May—have begun what may eventually constitute a serious threat to masculine prestige in rural California.

The old theory of masculine supremacy in agriculture has received a knockout blow from Violet, Lily and May on their 100-acre ranch near here.

Not content with owning the ranch the three girls run it. They have scorned male help and in doing so donned the denim and journeyed forth to the fields.

They plow and irrigate the land, plant and harvest the crops and haul the products to market. For example here are a few of their accomplishments.

Last year they plowed 160 acres of land, irrigated it, harrowed it, planted it, cultivated the growing crops, harvested them, and hauled to market 200 tons of choice melons, 150 tons of grapes and lesser quantities of other fruits and vegetables.

Not satisfied with that, the three girls milked 40 cows twice daily, filled ditches, raised 30 acres of alfalfa, pitched hay, mended harness, repaired farming implements and the windmill, weaned calves, raised turkeys and did a thousand and one other things that go with farming.

The Austin farm has become one of the show places of Stanislaus county. Leonard Austin, his wife and the three girls, the eldest, by the way, is 20, and the youngest 16, came to this district four years ago and made a down payment on the ranch.

Shortly after that the father became ill. The girls donned overalls, went to work, and met the payments.

REPUBLICANS WIN CLASH OVER TARIFF

and a second vote taken, by which the Republican provision was adopted 40 to 32. On that vote, he gained five Democratic votes, while losing six insurgents.

Tribute To Watson

The victory was a tribute to the leadership of Senator Watson (R) of Indiana, Republican floor leader. In the interim between the two votes, he was credited with rallying enough votes to the Republican cause to change the result. On the final vote, the Republicans won Broussard, Fletcher, Pittman, Ransdell and Trammel—all Democrats—and held in line such Independents as Capper, Couzens, Frazier, Howell, Johnson and McNary. They lost the insurgents, Borah, Cutting, LaFollette, McMaster, Nye and Norris.

The "manganese ore" issue meanwhile continued to pop into senate debate. Senator Couzens (R) of Michigan, revealed that the finance committee first voted 7 to 4 to put a one-cent-a-pound duty on manganese and then reversed itself, by a vote of 6 to 5, and placed it on the free list. He credited "our leader" with proposing reconsideration.

"What leader do you mean?" he was asked. "Senator Smoot, Senator Reed or Senator Watson."

"We have only one regular leader over here," retorted Couzens. "We have several pseudo-leaders but only one real leader—the Senator from Indiana (Watson)."

"Only one leader," temporized Senator Borah (R) of Idaho, "and we do not follow him."

Feminine Feet Go Fashion Shod ..... But How They Go!!

Most of the shoes you see on the street are style shoes. But some twinkle and some totter.

For the rocking chair days are gone forever for women—and now we're constantly on the "go."

It speaks well both for feminine common sense and fashion sense that so many feet are twinkling today in Foot Savers.

You'll understand why, once you let us show them to you and explain the patented, inbuilt construction that keeps them twinkling through the longest of pavement-pounding days.

STAR LORE

THE CONSTELLATION CAPRICORNUS

By Arthur DeV. Carpenter

Though inconspicuous in the heavens, Capricornus, because it is the tenth constellation of the Zodiac, holds an important position. The Sun occupies space within its borders in January. Capricornus is located between hours 20 and 22 right ascension along the ecliptic, with Sagittarius to its west and Aquarius to its east. By drawing a line through Vega to Altair, and continuing the same southward on the celestial sphere, it will pass through Alpha Capricorni. This constellation is in the ascendency of the evening sky during the month of September. Look it up in Barton's "Guide to the Constellations."

THE MODERN GIVER

THAT oft heard expression "the business of giving" assumes a new significance in this age of wonders. With millions being given away annually in this country through charitable bequests, educational endowments, civic gifts, welfare campaigns and church projects the business of giving has grown to gigantic proportions.

Henry Ford is reputed to employ five secretaries in reading and disposing of requests for financial aid received by him. When Mr. Schepp, the coconut king, asked for suggestions how to spend his remaining millions he was showered with 100,000 answers, of which 99 per cent were of a purely selfish nature. Wealthy benefactors have been known to spend as much as $50,000 to find a deserving beneficiary for $500,000. There are many companies in the business of raising funds for welfare and community purposes.

We are in the habit of saying that wealth has gone money-mad in our time, that riches are running amuck, that affluence has turned to wanton coin-scattering. But looking at this modern social phenomenon from its other side one can see a vast good being accomplished by this giving of five or ten or fifty millions for education, for universities and colleges, for exploration and scientific research, for hospitals, for charity, for medical experiment.

The good the modern millionaire does with his surplus millions can not be overestimated. Without attempt at self-laudation and self-glorification, he gives with benevolent and helpful intent. Neither in purpose nor in manner of giving can he be compared with the donors of Roman forums, victory arches and the Colosseum.

A YEAR'S BUSINESS WITH OUR BEST CUSTOMER

The irresistible trend of commercial development between Canada and the United States is shown in dramatic manner by the report of the Canadian government on its trade activities during the fiscal year which ended July 31. Despite all the effort expended on the promulgation of the Empire trade policy, there was a decrease of nearly $20,000,000 in Canadian exports to the British Empire and an increase of only $7,000,000 in Canadian imports from British sources; as compared with the preceeding year. During the same period Canadian imports from the United States increased from $763,142,197 to $902,440,421, while her exports to the United States increased from $482,629,885 to $516,132,672. In twelve months Canada's total trade with the Empire decreased $23,000,000, while that with the United States increased $172,800,000.

The Canadians, of course, are not satisfied with the trade balance in favor of the United States; but analysts of the imports indicates great increases in materials used in newly established Canadian industries, in which employment is given to many thousands of Canadians. Thus we find metal imports expanding from $287,483,265 to $362,682,533, with proportionate growth in automobile parts (for the assembling plants in Canada), farm implements, rolling mill products, crude petroleum, woolen yarn, etc. The Canadian lists record an increase in the value of alcoholic beverages sent out of the country from $27,568,312 to $28,144,371. Does that mean that the price of liquor has advanced, or that a greater quantity is coming here?

If the truth were to be told, this item would be listed as one of the "invisible" balances of trade with the United States. The Philadelphia Inquirer suggests that a little inquiry undoubtedly would also reveal an immense credit due for the American tourist business in Canada as an additional offset to the complained-of surplus on the American side of the trade with our best customer.

PLANS FOR FINISHING THE GRANT TOMB

Most Americans have probably been under the impression that the Grant Tomb, on the banks of the Hudson in New York, was completed long ago. As a matter of fact, $400,000 will be required before it is finished according to the original plans, says the Philadelphia Inquirer. Nearly half of this amount has been raised by subscription; and the committee having the affair in charge has been reorganized in the hope of securing the remainder, so that this notable memorial may do full justice to one of the greatest of our national heroes. It is planned to build a new base, to erect an equestrian statue in front of the entrance, to add sculptured decorations to pediment and panels and make a proper arrangement of shrubs and trees around the lawn. When all this is done the bare lines of the tomb will be softened, and the whole thing be much more impressive than it is at present.

The mention of the tomb is a remainder of how time flies. It was more than forty years ago when the committee was appointed for the erection of this tribute to the great general of the Union Armies. Its membership included such noted men as President Arthur, Hamilton Fish, Cornelius N. Bliss, J. Pierpont Morgan, Cornelius Vanderbilt, Whitelaw Reid, Joseph Pulitzer, Charles A. Dana and Charles M. Vail. With possibly one exception, all these men have since died. New hands have taken up the task of finishing the work. There are many persons now living who witnessed the dedication of this tomb. On that occasion it was suggested that for all time to come every vessel passing up and down the river should blow its whistle or ring its bell.

That beautiful idea was never carried out; but General Grant has not been forgotten. He still lives in the memory of the people of the Union he did so much to preserve.

A girl may be proud of her ability as a cook, but she does not want to be admired for that alone.

It strains credulity a little to read that "Bill" Kenny, New York multimillionaire, summoned his home barber to Paris, all expenses paid, and to expect more and more of a type of Americans with more money than they can even throw away.

A Brain Cure.

MacDonald's Mistake.

A Car Under $200.

Some Dead Bedouins.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1929, King Features Syn., Inc.)

Prof. Steinach of Vienna, serious scientist, who has made old men temporarily young by transplantation of monkey glands, announces a discovery more amazing and important.

A substance called "centronervin", isolated from internal secretion glands in the brains of frogs, is called the first remedy ever found for mental deficiency.

Dr. Steinach believes that he will double, at least, the inborn power of a human brain!

That seems a good deal for a frog extract to do. But nothing is impossible.

Ramsay MacDonald is said to be coming to America with the idea that he can persuade this government to allow him 339,000 tons of cruisers, America contenting herself with 300,000 tons.

If that is so, Mr. MacDonald is wasting time on a trans-Atlantic trip. He does not know President Hoover, if he thinks the President will consent to any inequality.

Considering that we could afford a navy of any size, and that Britain cannot afford to compete, our suggestion of equality should be accepted with gratitude.

When the British had the money they always had the biggest navy. And they didn't arrange any conference about it.

It is announced, apparently on good authority, that Gen. Wood, president of Sears, Roebuck & Co., has completed his plan to distribute automobiles through the mail for less than $200.

The car will be shipped in a box that can be used afterward for a garage.

An airplane expert is the inventor of the new automobile which carries two passengers and represents a new idea. No old-fashioned chassis, "a steel box with four wheels attached, each wheel having power applied separately," is a description of the machine, probably not entirely accurate.

There is nothing in this to alarm automobile makers or stock owners. It was proved long ago that the production of "cheap cars" increases the demand for expensive cars.

At Hattin, near the Sea of Galilee, raiding Bedouins, most savage of the Semitic tribes, decided that they would kill a few more Jews.

British forces killed 16 of them, wounded many, and drove off the rest.

A New York mass meeting demands that representatives of Great Britain in Jerusalem be recalled, and upbraids Great Britain for lack of energy.

It might be wise not to discourage the British too much, until some substitute for their protecting power is found.

There are hundreds of millions of Mohammedans scattered through the British Empire, nearly 100,000,000 in India alone. The British cannot afford to ignore completely that great power for trouble.

The President announces the appointment of Harry F. Guggenheim as ambassador to Cuba.

Cubans will welcome Mr. Guggenheim, representing an able and powerful American family well.

Americans will be glad to hear that Mr. Guggenheim's work for aviation in America is conspicuously recognized.

In addition to his own constant flying and working in the interest of aviation, Mr. Guggenheim has spent hundreds of thousands encouraging better airplane building and entirely apart from any possibility of financial profit.

A most important government experiment in aviation is the building of an all-metal dirigible, the ZMO-2.

That airship, contemptuously called a "tin bubble" by those with little imagination, was built by Congress after so-called "experts" in the army and navy had vetoed the project.

The "tin bubble", having flown half way across the country to Lakehurst on its trial trip, flew over New York yesterday.

All-metal dirigibles are safe from lightning, according to expert opinion. They weigh less than dirigibles of cloth, containing many separate bags. And it is alleged that properly constructed they will make leaks impossible and the use of hydrogen gas safe.

Our government needs a separate aviation department that would not oppose new ideas.

That "heavy break", prayed for by bears, is once again postponed. Stocks went climbing up again, "plus" signs on the ticker much thicker than autumn leaves in a windstorm.

It does look as if people who've got time t' burn, don't really need t' burn up th' roads while burnin' it!

Correct this sentence: "Yes, your dog bit me," said the man, "but I still have the same kind thoughts of you."

"I know," came the answer. "Remember this, you never find grass growing on a race track."

A prominent Chicago doctor says golf, not work, gives the tired business man weak eyes and headache, and that golf injures more eyes than work. We would rather not comment on this as we have to buck the cig smokers, tightwads and other objectionable characters who have it in for us so much that we can hardly go to church any more without feeling sort of out of place even if everything we do advocate is decent and respectable. This sure is a great world—and we want to stay in it as long as we possibly can.

Dear Roundy: My mirror is very friendly and sometimes flattering. Being past 40, possibly my eyes deceive me and then, too, maybe the lights are subdued in my dressing room. Anyway, after I get the makeup on and leave my room perfectly satisfied, I walk up street and happen to see myself in the drug store mirror—not so good! The glass of the daylight shows me up as I look to the other fellow and I hurry up street, not thinking so well of myself. And when I get back home I walk up to my mirror and tell it a few things—and how!

The hard part of reforming a man is getting him sober enough to be ashamed.

Four churches were robbed at Evanston, Ind., and a preacher too as his text for a sermon "Thieves in the Church." We are betting he was criticised even for that.

Hazel Nutt says she found this one in the Goshen (Ind.) News-Times: "An abandoned bootlegger's car was found at Fort Wayne after colliding with a police officer's machine which contained 15 gallons of alcohol."

When we get bills from some business places and there are some who trust us long enough to send a bill yet, we often wonder what kind of bookkeeping systems they have. The only persons who seem able to figure out the bills are the ones who send them out and that is alright if the customer has time enough to have them do it. A bill sent to a customer should be so simple anybody could understand it and even that is no assurance it will be paid.

TOO MANY TOMBS

An American negro, Sam, was on a tour of Egypt. Here he saw, in the Valley of the Kings, the tombs of long dead Pharaohs, covering the plain as far as the eye could see. There he saw the pyramids, lining the banks of the Nile for miles and miles, and learned that each one was the burial place of a deceased sovereign.

"How do you like the country?" asked the guide.

"Brother," replied Sam, his teeth chattering, "this ain' no country, this am a exaggerated cemetery."

It would be bad policy to print some of the political advertising offered even if the newspaper was protected by an indemnifying bond and the stuff were paid for at regular advertising rates. Bible Thought For Today

Good Tidings of Great Joy—There were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night. And, lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them; and they were sore afraid. And the angel said unto them, Fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day, in the city of David, a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord.—Luke 2:8, 9, 10, 11.

Public Opinion Emphatically Approves Fight On Propaganda

Denunciation By President Hoover And Quick Action In Congress Toward Searching Investigation Applauded In Newspaper Comment

The press reflects emphatic public approval of President Hoover's denunciation of propaganda designed to affect negotiations of the United States with foreign governments and the prompt move in Congress to investigate alleged activities in connection with the unsuccessful naval conference at Geneva two years ago.

"The disposition of the President to find out the truth about the relations between William B. Shearer, big navy advocate, and the three shipbuilding companies against which the latter has filed suit in the Supreme Court here is readily understandable," says the NEW YORK SUN, as it agrees with Mr. Hoover that "it is 'obviously against public interest' for those financially interested in naval construction to attempt to influence public opinion with respect to naval armaments. It would be even more against the public interest" the Sun adds, "if such an attempt were directed against representatives of the Government negotiating with foreign powers."

The President's statement on the subject is characterized by the COLUMBIA STATE as the "most direct, unequivocal and manly pronouncement made by the President of the United States since President Wilson retired from the White House," and the KANSAS CITY TIMES rejoices that "President Hoover is inclined to speak out." This being the case, the CHATTANOOGA NEWS is confident that "we may get some action. In some former administrations there would have been much sound and fury signifying nothing," the Tennessee paper says, and it pictures the people as liking to see "Herbert Hoover angry in a good cause." The APPLETON POST-CRESCENT is sure that "Mr. Hoover will have the overwhelming approval of the people in this move to nail down indefensible propaganda against his foreign policies, and that taking the matter to the country the way he has is likely to prove more effective than any other course he could pursue."

Congress is also praised for so quickly getting into step with the President's protest. "This promptness reveals an earnest desire to make all facts known to the people and a determination by official America not to let any selfish force stand between the people's need and desire for security in peace and the accomplishing of this desire," declares the HAVERHILL EVENING GAZETTE.

The ANN ARBOR DAILY NEWS thinks that, in this contingency, "it is up to the Republicans and Democrats in Congress to pool their patriotism in an effort to rid the country of the evil influence that has been at work, regardless of what individuals or corporations may be involved in the proceedings." The SCRANTON TIMES observes: "The hope is expressed that the Senate committee, once it gets moving in the Shearer case, will extend its investigation to cover the whole line of lobbying as carried on by special interests and groups."

In the heat of the investigation, however, "care must be taken to distinguish between sincere and unselfish advocacy of a big navy and that which might be considered of a prejudicial character," in the opinion of the PITTSBURGH POST-GAZETTE, because of the fact that, "While it is indicated that the majority opinion of the country is for navy reduction or limitation upon a basis of unquestioned fairness to the United States, it has to be recognized that there are some, having no connection whatever with shipbuilding interests, who are earnestly of the opinion that the only safe policy for the nation is to have a superior navy."

The BOSTON TRANSCRIPT comments at length upon the activities of those opposed to a big navy, saying, "For years and years it has been the hardest kind of work to secure from Congress any appropriation for an increased navy. The efficiency with which the opponents of national defense have functioned and the results they have obtained are enough to put a lone propagandist—Mr. Shearer or anyone else—to shame," continued the Transcript as it declares "it is time that all hands come out in the open."

The MILWAUKEE JOURNAL believes that "now is the best time in the world to get to the bottom of this thing, and make sure that, in the future, America can consider its defense needs and its international plans unhampered by betrayal. The Senate inquiry just ordered," it contends, "should be tender of no one—writers, shipping magnates or even admirals."

"Who or what Mr. Shearer is or was or did matters scarcely at all in comparison with the great extent to which it does matter whether the United States government has been betrayed, and if so, how and by whom," insists the LYNCHBURG NEWS. "The propagandist who waves the flag and leads the singing of 'The Star Spangled Banner' for his own personal profit is without integrity of purpose," the TOLEDO BLADE asserts, and the MUNCIE STAR states its opinion that, while "it is perfectly proper for an organization to be for a big navy program, or any other legal project, it should be bona fide and not be a catspaw pulling out of the fire the chestnuts of someone working under cover."

"The paid propagandist," thinks the SANTA ROSA PRESS DEMOCRAT, "has no proper place in our scheme of things unless he makes his position plain." In view of the "extremely serious charges which were implied by Mr. Hoover," the HARTFORD DAILY TIMES, describing these charges as going "beyond the especial instance of personality and misconduct which he cited," urges that "the basis for them should be made public property in justice to every interest concerned."

"It was the refusal of Great Britain's delegation at Geneva to agree to parity in cruiser strength that broke up the conference" the NORFOLK LEDGER-DISPATCH argues, "and if Premier MacDonald refuses to accept the 'yard-stick' measurements laid down by President Hoover in the forthcoming direct negotiations, the failure of the effort will rest with London and not with Washington. Nor can propagandists be blamed, as deplorable as their methods may have been."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

PERSIA TODAY.

Dr. H. C. Schuler is an American missionary who has spent forty years of his life in Persia. He knows much about Persia which the rest of the world does not know. He says:

"Persia never was conquered although Greek and Roman armies made repeated attempts to invade it. The king of Persia may look back with just pride over the past one thousand years while the rest of the world sped by. There are two reasons for this: one is historical and the other geographic."

"Owing to the position of Persia between India and Russia, and the lack of access to the trading ports of the world, she has been handicapped in competing with other nations."

"Politically, Persia has suffered by the influx of the Arab in the seventh century, who brought with him the laws of Mohammed. Mohammed's laws, which were designed to fit the requirements of centuries ago, are their governing laws of today."

"Sanitary conditions do not exist. The ditch that brings the drink carries away the sewage. Running water is ever pure, so sayeth Mohammed. It must be true, it came to Mohammed from Heaven."

"The people of Persia are white people. They have been progressive if not restrained with foolish laws. They are exceptionally intelligent and will stage a comeback."

"Imagine a country where they cannot charge interest on loans. It should keep people out of debt and the law may have been so intended. 'If you cannot pay me for the use of my money, why should I lend you it, and if you cannot borrow it you cannot get involved with debt.' Effort is being made at this time for the first time in nearly fourteen centuries to charge these laws."

The new dynasty permits of schools. These schools, with which Dr. Schuler has much to do, are teaching the finest literature.

Persia is the land where the Greeks says the youths were taught "to run to shoot and to speak the truth."

Just Folks

WISDOM

Oh, youth, you seem so very wise,
But tears have never filled your eyes
Nor have you much regretted.
The casual way you smile or sneer
But proves to oldsters sitting near
As yet you've seldom fretted.
But all these doubts you brush away
Will give you pause some other day

Now some there are who glumly say
That youth is much too smart today
Too wilful and too sporty.
But I say: "Let them air their views,
The arrogance of youth they'll lose
When they are reaching forty.
Full many a doubt will they admit
When life has jolted them a bit.

Right now their youthful heads are turned
With all the wisdom they have learned
In school they've gathered knowledge.
But there are lessons still to gain
Of hurt and grief, despair and pain
Which are not taught in college
From pages no one ever gleans
What trouble is, what sorrow means.

"Professors wise the young may teach
The graceful art of polished speech
And make them wise and witty.
But life itself must needs chasten down
And teach them of its sigh and frown.
And common need for pity
These youthful wise will wiser grow
When care and grief are things they know."

Steinach Denies Cure For Idiocy

Gland Surgeon Makes No Claims For New Serum Which Quickens Reflexes

By ALFRED TYRNAUER
International News Service Special Correspondent.

VIENNA, Sept. 18.—Categorial denial of reports he has perfected a specific for the cure of feeble-mindedness was made to International News Service here today by Professor Eugen Steinach, famous Viennese scientist and originator of rejuvenation treatments by gland surgery.

The reports spread following Steinach's discovery of a fluid known as centronervin, with which he has recently conducted sensational experiments on various animals.

The serum, according to Dr. Steinach, acts as a nerve irritant which quickens the reflexes of the animals in which it is injected. There are no grounds, he declared, for the report that the fluid may eventually prove suitable as a cure for idiocy.

"Apparently many wrong impressions have been gained from the publicity given to reports of my experiments with centronervin," Dr. Steinach declared.

Temperament Changes

"Thus far I have been experimenting only on animals, such as frogs, rats, dogs and cows. The experiments have proved that the cerebrum emits secretions which spread all over the body through circulation of the blood and that these juices have a great influence on the central nervous system.

"I have found that animals inoculated with this brain extract have displayed an altered temperament, becoming much livelier, stronger and capable of a greater state of tension.

"In addition, they become much more temperamental.

"But it causes a misunderstanding to call this new extract an elixer of intelligence. It is much more an extract of temperament, because it is a natural stimulant.

"Overworked and overtired nerves are, through centronervin, restored to a normal state of temperament, sluggish animals are also restored to a more acute reactive state.

"Reports that centronervin will make the weak-minded strong-minded, or shy people bold, are harmful. No such claim is made for the new serum and such misrepresentations are only detrimental to scientific work."

Steinach flatly denied that he had any intention of trying his experiments on human beings.

Blake Furnishes Esquimeaux Pies

While clerks totalled primary returns in the voting booths and the New Castle News staff telephoned, added, substracted and gave out returns last night Tommy Blake, manager of the Rieck McJunkin company was a busy man. Seeing that the workers in The News had their coats and vests off, busy and perspiring he brought an ample supply of good, delicious thirst and hunger satisfying Esquimeaux pies to The News for which The News force say "Thanks, Mr. Blake!"

FAMOUS MILL MAY BE BOUGHT

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Sept. 18.—Howard Adams of Perryopolis, near here, treasurer of the fund of $10,000 being raised for the preservation of the old George Washington mill, announces that $1,000 of that sum has been received.

Three month still remain in which to secure the remainder. Subscriptions have been coming in from all over the United States.

The matter will be given further consideration at the annual session of the State Millers' Association, which will be held September 25 at Harrisburg.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 18.—H. F. Estill passed a stop light and was reading a newspaper when he drove his automobile across an East St. Louis intersection at 35 miles an hour, according to testimony in an East St. Louis justice of the peace court.

Estill denied reading a newspaper but paid a fine of $10 and costs.

CHINESE STILL USE COPPER JARS TO DETERMINE TIME

CANTON, China, Sept. 18.—Natives here still use ancient methods to determine time. The age old water clock, consisting of four large copper jars standing on steps one above the other is used.

Water in the top jar trickles through each of the other three. It takes exactly 12 hours for the water in the top jar to trickle into the lower one. This clock is 600 years old.

French Agitated Over Disarmament Situation

By FREDERICK E. ABBOTT
International News Service Staff Correspondent
Copyright, 1929, International News Service.

PARIS, Sept. 18.—French official circles are obviously agitated today over the naval disarmament situation.

There are three phases of disarmament, International News Service learned from reliable official source, which are giving France concern.

France, it was pointed out by an authoritative spokesman, is willing to enter into discussions, but would be under difficulties if she participated in a parley whose aim was to work out definite tonnage proportions.

The three features of naval reduction which are causing such concern to the French are:—

1.—Franco-Italian naval parity in the Mediterranean;

2.—The proposal to abolish submarines;

3.—The nature of the proposed five-power conference.

It was pointed out to International News Service that:—

"Italy desires parity in global tonnage with France which presents a grave difficulty since Italy would concentrate her entire tonnage in the Mediterranean sea, whereas France would be obliged to make a wide distribution of her naval shipping to police the colonies and cononial trade routes. This would give Italy an enormous majority in home waters."

As to the second phase, dealing with submarines the following French viewpoint was given to International News Service:

"The United States and Great Britain desire to exclude submarines which is impossible so far as France is concerned. What would be the attitude of the United States and Great Britain if France and Italy reached an accord excluding all capital ships? The submarine is a cheap defensive weapon and is essential to our coast defense."

As to the third phase, dealing with the nature of the proposed parley, the spokesman said:

"France is willing to confer any where and at any time, but difficulties attend a conference which has the direct aim to decide definite figures regarding tonnage proportions. If the conference intends to conduct its discussions along the lines of the league of nations preparatory disarmament commission, such as have been laid down at Geneva, then it meets our approval."

According to all indications France, Italy and Japan will stand together in opposition to the abolition of submarines.

THANKS TO YOU!

Because my friends and neighbors stood by me so splendidly on Tuesday, September 17, I have been nominated as one of the two Republican candidates for City Council. I would like to thank each voter personally but because this is impossible I am using the columns of the News.

Such a vote as I received almost overwhelms me. I only trust that the voters will be as kind in the November election. If they do and I am elected I can only demonstrate my appreciation through loyal, honest service to the people of my city. Again I thank you.

Manufacture Of Whisky To Start

Government To Permit Manufacture Of 2,000,000 Gallons Yearly

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.— The government is about ready to go into the business of manufacturing medicinal liquor.

Fourteen distillers have applied for permits, it became known today. About six will receive licenses and the 2,000,000 gallons to be produced will be allocated among them. The permittees will be scattered over the country in order to cut down transportation of whiskey and thus reduce the chances of diversion to illegal purposes.

Dr. James M. Doran, prohibition commissioner, explaining that with normal barrel soakage and evaporation the 2,000,000 gallons "will age out, at the end of a four year period to between 1,600,000 and 1,700,000 gallons," approximately the annual requirement. The amounts to be manufactured in ensuing years must be determined by the factors before the commissioner at the time.

Examine Applicants

Investigators are looking into the qualifications and records of applicants for permits and will submit reports to Doran within the next few days. Every effort will be made to prevent diversions of the new whiskey and officials believe they had worked out as nearly as possible an air-tight plan.

Seventy per cent of the whiskey to be produced will be bourbon and 30 per cent rye. There are approximately 70,000 physicians licensed to issue whiskey prescriptions.

The present supply of medicinal whiskey is about 9,500,000 gallons. That represents 15,127,380 gallons originally placed in warehouses. By January 1, before which time manufacture is expected to begin, Doran estimated that the liquor stock would be 8,440,555 gallons, which at the normal rate of consumption would be sufficient for four years.

The withdrawal of whiskey for medicinal purposes has been about 1,600,000 gallons annually in recent years and according to information from the trade and professions, the rate will not change materially in the next four years.

Condemn Bishop For Stock Speculation

(International News Service)

REIDSVILLE, N. C., Sept. 18.— Bishop James M. Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church South was "condemned in unmeasured terms" today for his alleged "bucket shop marginal speculation" by the congregation of the Locust Hill Methodist Church near here.

"His action," a resolution adopted by the church members said, "has lowered the dignity of the office of the Methodist Episcopal Church South which he holds, and brings reproach on the cause of Christ which he is supposed to represent."

Prescribe Diet In Cancer Treatment

Complete Fast, Followed By Citrus Diet Recommended By Surgeons

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—A complete fast for a week or ten days and followed by a diet of citrus fruit and vegetables for the treatment of cancer was advocated here today at the three-day convention of the American Association of Orificial Surgeons.

"A person can go for thirty to forty days without food and not suffer," said Dr. R. L. Brown of Springfield, O., who told of the treatment. "The first three days are hard but after that it is easy. The fast is necessary to rid the system of toxic poisons. It must be followed by fruit and vegetable diet. These foods produce an alkalinization of the system necessary to restore health."

Along with this rigid diet the patient must do without salt and sugar, Dr. Brown said. He stated it would be impossible to bring about the Alkalinization of the body if sugar or salt were eaten.

In cooking vegetables, instead of using salt and sugar, a compound of one-half a lemon, a teaspoon full of strained honey and two or three teaspoonfuls of water will substitute, Dr. Brown stated.

Farmer's Faith In Story Of Crystal Gazer Costs $175

PEORIA, Ill., Sept. 18.—Lure of hidden gold, disclosed to him by a crystal gazer, cost Howard Moon, Elmwood farmer, $175 before he was aware that he was the victim of a swindle.

Working under the name of "S. H. Miller," the mystic carrier of the "seer" visited him. Mr. Moon was told that his uncle, who was killed in the Civil war, had buried a vast sum of money along the banks of a creek in the southland, that his uncle was fond of him, and it was his desire that Moon should some day have his wealth. The "seer" then stated that it would require $200 to make the trip, but that he would furnish $25 of the expenses. Both, it was planned, would make the trip.

Moon, following instruction, placed $175 in a safety box in a bank there.

Several days later he became worried about his money. Going to the bank and opening the safety box, he found the sack in which he had placed $175 contained only a "wad of paper."

Babe In Arms; Mother Is Dead

(International News Service)

LEBANON, Pa., Sept. 18.—With a three-weeks-old child clasped in her arms, crying, Mrs. Mary Kauffman Dubble, 30, was found dead in bed in her home in Jackson township today, by her seven-year-old daughter.

Crying of the baby attracted the attention of the daughter. Physicians said death was caused by heart trouble.

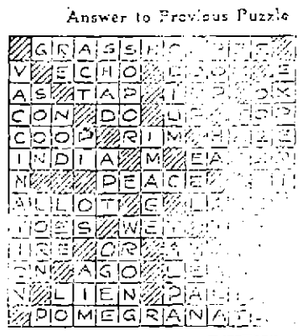
Answer to Previous Puzzle



She has learned how to keep clothes new looking twice as long

(the same way the movies do)

"I DO have more pretty clothes now, though I don't spend any more than I used to. The reason is, I've discovered how to keep everything I wear like new so much longer. Instead of spending all my money just to replace things that look old and shabby too quickly, now I can buy extra clothes.

"I learned the secret by reading about the movies—how they keep screen clothes just like new twice as long by always washing them in Lux. Since then, I've used Lux for all my things—stockings, undies, gloves, sweaters, dresses.

"It's perfectly marvelous what a difference this makes. All my clothes look like new so much longer. Now, I don't have to spend every cent just replacing worn-outs. I can afford luxuries."

You, too, can have the same wonderful results with Lux . . . keep all your clothes new looking far, far longer . . .

Then your clothes money won't all go into replacing worn-outs—you can afford so many extra nice things.

PETER'S ADVENTURES IN ANIMAL LAND

BY MRS. FLORENCE CANDLE VINCENT

THE CHEERY CRICKETS

"Where am I husband? Right here, dear!" answered Mrs. Chirper, "And I am coming right over!" True to her word a second cricket skipped around the corner of the rock.

"I am sorry to have kept you waiting, husband, but one of the babies caught his feelers in the crevice of the rock, and just as you called, I was trying to get it out without hurting him. It took a little while but all is well, now!"

"Are you sure," chirped Mr. Cricket anxiously. "Dear me, dear me! Sonny might have pulled his feeler off. That would have been a terrible thing to have happened. Why didn't you call for help."

"I was just about to, Chirper dear, when with a sudden jerk I loosened Sonny's feeler and it came uncaught without any further trouble. There's no need now for either of us to worry. But you haven't introduced me to your friend! I should like to meet him. Really I can't stay away from home long. It is nearly afternoon nap-time, you know!"

"So it is Chee, so it is, I'd forgotten. Well, we'll not keep you! Let me introduce you to Boy and believe it or not, in his home lives long-lost brother. Tell wife how brother and his good wife used to sing you to sleep, boy."

So Peter told Mrs. Cricket the tale of the Crickets on the Hearth and Mrs. Cricket was so pleased she just couldn't keep quiet. She ran round in circles. But Mr. Cricket was different. To keep quiet suited him exactly.

"LET'S SIT DOWN IN THE SHADE OF THE TOADSTOOL PARASOL!"

"Come on, you two," said he suddenly. "Let's sit down in the shade of the toadstool parasol and talk for a spell. I like the sun, but the shade for me right now!"

"Suits me," chuckled Peter. "I was sitting under the toadstool parasol when Mrs. Walking-Stick came along and made me get off her husband's head. Of course if I hadn't taken the poor insect for a twig I wouldn't have stepped on his head in the first place. Now you and Mrs. Cricket are so black that no one could step on you and not know it!"

Next: "Black Box With Wings."

WORKS HARD IN THE FIELD

Relies Upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Rankin, Illinois.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a tonic before and after my first child was born six years ago. Then when my second child came and I felt weak and rundown, I took it again. I am still taking it and I am feeling better. My mother used it for herself when I was small and always got good results. She still takes it. I do all kinds of heavy work, including my housework and I also help in the field. I recommend the Vegetable Compound and I am willing to answer any letters."—Mrs. BEN OSBORNE, Route 2, Rankin, Illinois.

Heflin Demands Raskob Quit

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Resignation of John J. Raskob as chairman of the Democratic National committee was demanded by Senator Heflin (D) of Alabama, in a statement asserting that the party machinery was being geared to promote the presidential candidacy of Gov. Alfred S. Smith in 1932.

Heflin declared that the Smith boom was launched in Boston on Saturday night at a Democratic rally, which was attended by leading Massachusetts Democrats and by Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic National executive committee.

FARM CALENDAR

Timely Reminders From The Pennsylvania State College School of Agriculture

Prepare Apple Storage—Clean out the apple storage and take the necessary measures to insure that it is rat-proof. Can the ventilation be improved this season? Your county agent can supply you with helpful bulletins on this subject.

Improve the Lawn—Sow grass seed now on the bare places in the lawn. Do not mow the grass too closely during the fall months, as this will remove the protection the roots need next winter.

Cure Seed Corn Well—Experiments have proved that it pays to cure seed corn inside, with artificial heat if necessary. Yields twice as great have been obtained from fire-dried seed as from seed stored in the corn crib for drying. Do not let the frost ruin your prospects for a good corn crop next year when proper care will protect the seed already saved.

Harvest Before Frost—In storing winter squash and pumpkins, harvest them before they have been exposed to frost, State College vegetable specialists urge. Handle carefully to prevent bruising. Do not remove the stem. Store in a warm, dry place, and try to keep the temperature from fluctuating much. The same requirements hold true for sweet potatoes.

Keep Turkeys Healthy—Feed and protection aid in keeping turkeys fit. Vitamin A, supplied in yellow corn, cabbage, alfalfa, clover, and most greens, increases resistance to colds. Cod liver oil also is beneficial. Late hatched, immature, and thin birds should have shelter at night from the cold.

Farm Problems—When new farm problems present themselves, do not forget that the County Agent will help you solve them. Perhaps the Agricultural Publications Office at State College, Pa., will have a free bulletin giving detailed information. Write and ask.

Tax Refund For John D. Rockefeller

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 18—Taxes amounting to $1,000 will be returned to John D. Rockefeller, Jr., by the village of North Tarrytown.

The village assessed a property of Rockefeller's at $100,000. This was cancelled when it was established that property was outside the village limits. It is probable the village will float a bond issue to meet the Rockefeller refund.

Actor Now 101 Studies Singing For Talkie Job

By FREDERIC A. CHASE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Sept. 18.—Like the many movie actors, William H. Taylor, 101 years old, is taking singing lessons to improve his voice, so that talking pictures won't catch him unawares and steal his livelihood.

He advised casting officials of his voice work the other day when he applied for a role in Paramount's new song romance, and got it.

Taylor, long a character in Hollywood, with his long white hair that has not been cut for 50 years, and a beard that has not seen a barber, either, for 30 years, declared he started his singing lessons six weeks ago.

"My voice is getting to be pretty good," he averred, "I think I'm good enough now to try the talkies. He offered to sing for the casting director but time and a piano were lacking." Taylor didn't say whether he is a tenor, baritone or bass.

But he did give the casting director some advice on how to live to be 101.

"Don't get married," he advised him. "I would have been dead long ago if I had gotten married. Women nag 20 years off a man's life, if you let 'em."

Taylor has an ambition to fulfill before he dies. He wants to ride a horse from Los Angeles to Washington, D. C.

He has young ideas about lots of things. He can ride and he can dance, and he's all for talking pictures.

"Talkies are the greatest development of the century in which I have lived," he declared. "And I expect to do several years of acting yet before I retire."

Taylor served as a scout in two Indian campaigns and in the Civil war. He is one of the few veterans of Gen. Miles' campaign against Geronimo, the Apache chieftain.

The aged actor's hearing is good and he doesn't need glasses.

Morgan Farley advises substitution of pride for the 18-day diet. "Pride should keep one thin," opines the tall, serious young player.

"Keeping at the proper weight is as much a part of one's duty toward oneself as wearing neat clothing, or brushing the hair. No one with pride will allow himself to become obese and unsightly in appearance, unless, of course, there are physiological causes which cannot be remedied," he says.

"There should be no need for dieting. One should keep at the proper weight, so that there will be no need for desperate dieting measures."

Mental efficiency, Farley believes, is in direct ratio to one's weight.

"No one can be at his best mentally if he is overweight," he declares.

You have seen the movie star talking into a phone which you knew darned well didn't go anywhere, and didn't have anyone on the other end of the line.

But you won't see it any more.

Another innovation of talking pictures is the new way of "shooting" telephone conversations, making two scenes at once with the actors talking at either end of a real line. There are two batteries of cameras and two microphones, one battery trained on each end of the conversation, so that the speeches can be recorded as they actually would be in life. In this way, the studio can film its phone calls from both ends simultaneously and save time as well as heighten realism.

Warner Brothers are given credit for the innovation.

Township Parents Demand Bus For School Children

SHARON, Pa., Sept. 18.—Parents invaded the meeting of the school board because their children have to walk to school. About 75 fathers and mothers of Jefferson township walked into the board to demand that, if their children could not be permitted to attend the school nearest home, they be given a bus ride to the proper district school. See Lower Cost Of Keeping American Women Beautiful

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18. — Protracted international negotiations, which in the end may save the American taxpayer more money than will be saved by the forthcoming disarmament conference, have just about been concluded between France and the United tSates.

As a result, the outlook is excellent for lower costs in keeping the American women beautiful. Last year it cost something like $3,000,000,000—at least, about that much was spent in the effort.

Putting it in the prosaic language of business, imports from France are about to be appraised at their foreign valuation rather than American.

If the negotiations are successful, as anticipated, the treasury department will place a number of customs agents in France to determine the domestic value of goods to be shipped to the United States. French exports to this country last year were valued at about $180,000,000.

The major portion of French exports to the United States is made up of cosmetics and perfumes, for which the Paris beauty specialists, are famous. Other exports include expensive women's clothing and other articles dear to the feminine heart.

Several years ago customs agents were removed from France at the request of that government. Producers objected to American officials examining their books and other records to ascertain the production cost of articles for export, claiming that such a course resulted in the disclosure of private information to which this government was entitled.

Thousands At Stamp Meeting In Kansas City

By SAM A. MINDELL.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 18.—Stamp collecting as a hobby has an unusual attraction even more extensive in scope is the hobby of collecting precancelled stamps. Such an opinion can be verified after one takes into consideration that the Precanceled Stamp society comprising several thousand members gathered in Kansas City for three days beginning September 5.

This orginization's membership not only includes persons in the United States but also reaches into foreign sections.

Precancelled stamps, meaning stamps to which the cancellation has been applied by printing or hand-stamping previous to mailing, have been used nearly 70 years.

Perfected Process.

A few years ago the bureau of engraving and printing in Washington perfected a process of precancelling the stamps as they were printed and now all the larger postoffices where precancelled stamps are used are supplied direct from the bureau, both in sheets and in coils.

Some of the earlier precancelled stamps are very rare and difficult to obtain but age is not always an indication of rarity in a postage stamp. Some recent issues which were issued in very small quantity, in now obsolete types are extremely rare.

Many of the precancel collectors make a specialty of certain types of precancellations or of certain stamps. Some collect everything, like William Jerrems of Kansas City who has one of the largest collections in the country. Others collect only the earlier issues some only commemorative stamps while others collect only the types precancelled by the bureau of engraving and printing. Many collectors confine their activities to their home state, while others collect only certain denominationssuch as 13-cent or 17-cent stamps.

Hobby Growing.

The hobby for precancelled stamps has grown enormously in recent years one reason being a large collection can be gathered at little cost while a "regular collection" soon begins to run into money even if a collector specializes in only United States varieties.

The real activity in the Precancel Stamp society is in its sales and exchange departments. Thousands of stamps will be exchanged during the convention.

The officers of the Precancel Stamp society which was established in 1912 are President W. I. Mitchell, Berkeley, Calif; vice president E. J. Newcomer, Yakima, Wash.; secretary treasurer, John Spaulding, New Berlin, N. Y.; sales manager, E. P. Anthony, Cleveland and exchange director Charles A. Achtenberg, Madison Wis.

Judge Maxey Is Re-nominated

Wins Republican Party Nomination In Lackawanna County

(International News Service)

SCRANTON, Pa., Sept. 18.—Judge George W. Maxey has won the Republican nomination for judge of the common pleas court of Lackawanna county over his opponent Attorney George Morrow, returns for two-thirds of the district showed today. Morrow, however, holds a lead of 700 votes over Maxey on the Democratic ticket.

Maxey's big vote indicated that he will remain on the bench another ten years, political observers say, since the Republican nomination in Lackawanna is regarded as equivalent to election.

Fred K. Derry won the Republican nomination for mayor or Scranton and John F. Durkan won the Democratic nomination. These two offices held the chief interest of the voters.

John J. Owens is leading the field for district attorney and W. H. Schmitt is 4,000 votes ahead for register of wills, with senator Albert Davis second on the Republican ticket.

Heavy vote was cast and despite the bitterness of the campaign there were no disorders of a serious nature.

Davis Is Nominee For Erie Sheriff

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., Sept. 18.—With the expectation of a strong majority in the county, Millard Davis seems assured the Republican nomination for sheriff over John Applebee, who ran on both tickets. Frank Wagner and Charles Loesel were nominated for the county poor board. Horace Bell and Frank Hart for jury commissioners and Harvey Willis to succeed himself as county controller. In the city Theodore Eichorn, street director in council, and Thomas Menaffey, finance director, took the Republican nomination for their present positions. Isaac Baker, W. E. McClelland and Dr. James Detuerk were nominated to the school board.

There is just so much worry for everybody. If you dodge your share there is more for your creditors.

Barnhart Leads In Cambria County

(International News Service)

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Sept. 18.—Frank P. Barnhart, incumbent, today has a substantial lead in the Republican primaries over District Attorney D. P. Weimer, his rival for common pleas court judge. A tight race between Samuel L. Reed, incumbent, and Charles C. Greer is on in the primary for orphans court judge, and between O. W. Saylor and Homer C. George, present county commissioners, for sheriff. With half the districts of Cambria county tabulated, the two pairs of rivals are running neck and neck.

Powers Announces His Appreciation

From the returns available at noon today, it appears that I have been honored with the Republican nomination for District Attorney. To properly express my appreciation of this honor is a task that I cannot fully do, and yet I cannot let the opportunity go by of saying "Thank You".

My gratitude goes out, not alone to the men and women who supported me, but to my opponent, Attorney Mont L. Ailey and his friends. Their treatment of me was most courteous and fair and while the fortunes of war have declared me the winner, I want Mr. Ailey and his supporters to know that I appreciate their clean, sportsmanlike conduct.

The nomination is but the first step. I appreciate this deeply. May I hope that in the November election the confidence thus far imposed in my candidacy will be continued?

Sincerely,
JOHN S. POWERS.

I THANK YOU!

The returns of yesterday's primary indicate that Frank S. Johnston is the choice of the Republican Party for the nomination for sheriff. I want to offer my congratulations to Mr. Johnston and assure him that I will do everything within my power to insure his election in November.

To my many friends who stood by me so loyally I will always be grateful. To those other voters who could not support me this time I also express my appreciation for the courteous manner in which I was received.

Only one man can win, but it is a source of satisfaction to know that my candidacy was so well received.

EDWARD D. PRITCHARD

TO THE VOTERS OF LAWRENCE COUNTY

As I can not see you all personally, I take this means of expressing my appreciation of the courteous treatment which I received during my campaign and wish to thank all those who so loyally supported me and made possible my nomination for the office of Register and Recorder of Lawrence county.

If elected in November I shall endeavor to conduct the office in a manner worthy of the confidence you have placed in me.

Seventy-Seventh Year Is Started At Westminster

Record Enrollment Is Forecasted As Registration Opens This Morning

Registration for the seventy-seventh college year started at Westminster this morning at 9 o'clock. Students will be registered again this afternoon and tomorrow. At 11 o'clock tomorrow morning, there will be a break in registration and the convocation chapel service will be held at that hour in the new chapel in Old Main Memorial.

Judging from the large number of students who crowded the registration tables in the corridors of Old Main Memorial this morning, Westminster will have a record enrollment this year. Dr. J. A. Swindler, registrar, reported yesterday that there will be approximately 575 students in college this fall, despite the fact that more than 60 were turned away because of low grades and lack of sufficient high school credits.

College activities got under way yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock when the faculty of the college met in the Little Theater of Old Main Memorial to transact the first business of the year. Among other things, the various committees of the faculty as recommended by President W. Charles Wallace were approved.

Entertain Faculty

Following the regular faculty business meeting, President and Mrs. W. Charles Wallace entertained the faculty informally at their home on Waugh avenue. Forty persons enjoyed this social time, a number of wives of faculty members being in attendance in addition to the faculty members.

Those who were present at the tea were, in addition to Dr. and Mrs. Wallace: Prof. and Mrs. Alan B. Davis, Prof. J. A. Shott, Miss Juanita Robinson, Miss C. Dorothy Kirkbride, Miss Florence White, Mrs. C. E. Robertson, Prof. J. George Lutz, Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Dawson, Prof. H. D. Parish, Miss Marjorie E. Brown, Prof. J. G. Morrhead, Miss Agnes Martin, Mrs. A. A. McDonald, Mrs. Mary C. McConaghy, Prof. and Mrs. C. W. McKee, Miss Elizabeth Stewart.

Prof. and Mrs. Harlow Osgood, Prof. and Mrs. H. L. Black, Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Swindler, Prof. and Mrs. Ben Euwema, Prof. and Mrs. A. T. Cordray, Prof. E. C. Murray, Dr. and Mrs. John Orr, Dr. B. F. Quick, Prof. R. N. Graham, Miss Lois Doolittle, Miss Mildred Allman, Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Russell, and Dr. G. H. Taylor.

Dry Killing Trial

Federal jurisdiction has been asserted in the case of G. A. De Moss, top, deputy United States marshal of Tulsa, Okla., and Willis Thompson, below, deputy sheriff of Mayes county, charged with the killing of Charles Jenkins, Cherokee county tenant farmer, while attempting to arrest him on a liquor indictment. The men are now awaiting federal trial at Tulsa, after the case had been removed from a district court at Tablequah, where feeling against them was intense.

FISH NETS HOLD UP RUM CHASER

SANDUSKY, O., Sept. 18—The rum chaser CG-2274 was in drydock at the United States Coast Guard Station at Marblehead, near here, as a result of an encounter with fishing twine in Lake Erie, about three miles off Cedar Point and four miles east of Kelleys Island.

The boat had been doing patrol duty off Lorain and late Monday night started west in quest of rum smugglers.

Before she knew it, she was "fast" in the great area of "fishing ground" between the north and south Lake Erie passages that the passenger vessels ply.

After trying again and again to free their craft, the commandant and crew began sending up flares.

Cottages along the Cedar Point shore thought a boat was burning. They notified the Marblehead coast guard.

ELECTION BRIEFS

(International News Service)

CARLISLE, Pa., Sept. 18.—Prothonotary nominations furnished the hottest fights in the Cumberland county primaries, and the winners today appeared to be Benjamin W. Brymesser, Democrat, and Frank O. Seidel, Republican. Brymesser was leading George M. Miller by 15 to 1.

LEWISTOWN, Pa., Sept. 18. — By results assured on the basis of nearly complete returns, Charles W. Printz today had won the Republican nomination for sheriff of Mifflin county by a majority of 125 votes over Joseph I. Young. Wilson White had a large majority assuring him the Democratic nomination for sheriff. This office was the most hotly contested of the election.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Sept. 18.—Henry Houck, son of Paul W. Houck, Schuylkill county leader, was nominated by the Republicans by an overwhelming majority for common pleas judge, a position he now holds temporarily. Congressman G. F. Brumm, his oppenent, was defeated in all sections of the county by a majority expected to run to 6,000.

Former Judge H. O. Bechtel was nominated by the Democrats for the common pleas bench.

HARRISBURG, Sept. 18.—The regular Republican machine in Dauphin county was still on its wheels today, but there were dents in the body that indicated an impending battle for control of the county during the gubernatorial primary next April.

Dr. Leroy S. Howard, leader of the independent organization slate, was trailing Dr. H. E. Milliken, regular party man for the Republican coroner's nomination, the key position in the fight. But veteran politicians were surprised at the opposition shown the ticket of the three regents who succeeded the late Lieut. Governor E. E. Beidleman, controlling the regular machine.

There were no Democratic contests except for jury commissioner, for which Mrs. Rebecca Ort was leading.

(International News Service)

READING, Pa., Sept. 18.—Harvey F. Heinly defeated Oliver M. Wolff, district attorney, for the Democratic nomination for judge of the common pleas court of Berks county in the hottest primary election contest ever witnessed here. With 12 precincts still missing the vote was: Heinly 9,798 to 8,105 for Wolff.

MEDIA, Pa., Sept. 18.—The remarkable come-back of Martin D. Yerkes, former 'fining" squire of Millbourne, was among the highlights today of the results fro mthe primary elections in Delaware county. Yerks defeated Charles R. Wilson 121 votes to 91 despite his record of having served half of a six months' jail term in connection with a fine imposed on a motorist.

Consolidation Of Railroads Is Causing Conflict

Loree Plan, Submitted Today, Brings Further Complication In Proposed Mergers

WOULD LINK UP NEW ENGLAND SYSTEMS

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 18—The railroad consolidation situation was further complicated today as the interstate commerce commission took under consideration the application of L. F. Loree, president of the Delaware & Hudson, to link up with that road a number of the most important railroad systems of the country.

The Loree plan is the fourth one of major proportions now before the commisison, the others being those of the Chesapeake & Ohio, Baltimore & Ohio and Wabash. Some of them conflict and a big fight is sure to ensue when the commisison finally begins hearings on the various applications.

Included, among the roads that would form the basis of Loree's proposed system are: New York, New Haven & Hartford, Maine Central, Boston & Maine, Reading, Central of New Jersey, Lehigh & New England, Lehigh & Hudson River, Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh, Bangor & Aroostook, Buffalo & Susquehanna, New York, Ontario & Western, Pittsburgh & West Virginia, Western Maryland, Virginian and the Rutland.

Would Cover Seaboard.

It is estimated that the proposed system would have, exclusive of trackage rights and any new construction that might be authorized, about 13,553 miles of line and money investment would be $2,629,391,328.

The proposed system would cover the entire Atlantic seaboard from the Canadian border to Hampton Roads, Va.

"Upon such a system," said the application, "would develop a management acquainted broadly and in detail with the vital economic problems arising in this highly industrialized and specialized region, and especially skilled to advance their solution by dealing promptly and energetically with its complex transportation needs.

Lewis And Cooper Win On South Side

Capture Aldermanic Contests; Lewis Has Hard Battle To Win Over Roberts

Down in the Fifth ward Richard R. Lewis is proving the truth of that old adage, "if at first you don't succeed, try, try again."

"Dick" proved it on Tuesday when he came through as the Republican nominee for alderman in the Fifth ward, winning over two strong candidates the present incumbent, Alderman David Roberts and Walter P. Kerber.

Lewis received 309 votes, Roberts 302, and Kerber 155. It was a close fight but the seven votes plurality received by Lewis mean that he is the nominee.

In the Eighth ward Alderman J. Lee Cooper was nominated again having no opposition. Nominating Squire Cooper in the Eighth ward is now a custom and institution. He has served the ward and faithfully for many years and no one cares to try to take his seat.

France's Naval Attitude Worries

Officials Are Concerned Over Disposition On Naval Disarmament

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Officials here exhibited some concern today over the growing signs of opposition in France to the naval disarmament plans worked out in the lengthy negotiations between President Hoover and Premier Ramsay MacDonald.

There was, however, no public statement other than reiteration of the patent fact that whatever agreement is reached between the United States and Great Britain is entirely dependent upon the willingness of Japan, France and Italy to "to go along."

The smaller powers can make or break the Anglo-American naval accord, for there is no disposition either in Washington or London to reduce the American and British naval establishments if the others are not to reduce in ratio.

Undoubtedly the abolition of submarines will be proposed at the London conference. Britain proposed it at the Washington conference eight years ago, when the terrible havoc wrought to British shipping in the world war was still fresh in British minds. The proposal failed then because France objected. And it will fair again in London next January if France persists in her objections.

The attitude of the United States toward abolition of submarines is easily understood. If a world agreement for their abolition can be obtained the United States is perfectly agreeable. If any other power insists upon submarines the United States is going to have them, too. The whole question of the submarine is one of vital interest to the British and only or rather academic interest to the United States.

Vare Leader Pledges Cleaner Politics

Makes Pledge In Thanking Republicans For Supporting Sick Leader

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 18.—"From this day on the organization pledges itself to be cleaner, better and more progressive," Senator Samuel W. Salus, one of Senator-elect William S Vare's aides, told an audience in an impromptu address early today. The speech came during a jubilee meeting in celebration of the Vare organization's utter rout of Harry A. Mackey, a former lieutenant's efforts to wrest the leadership of the local G. O. P. from the sick hands of the senator-elect.

"I am extremely grateful not only to the Republicans but to the sincere independents who joined to make this great victory so pronounced," Vare said in part in a written statement issued following the balloting.

Rain that fell during the day was blamed by Thomas Raeburn White, chairman of the Republican league faction, and follower of the late Senator Penrose, for the Vare landslide.

"The people of Philadelphia have spoken. Now there is nothing to do but to congratulate the winners," such was the comment of Mayor Harry A. Mackey today on the primary election results.

"The vote in reality is a mandate of politics," James M. Hazlett chairman of the Republican Central Campaign committee said.

Others looked upon the landslide as a great personal victory for Vare.

An Up And Down Experience

By S. S. MYERS

A fellow who is having a five story building erected went around one Sunday morning recently to look it over. Ascending the stairs, or rather four flights of ladders where the stairs will be when the building is completed, he reached the top floor and discovered a pile of bricks which were not needed there. Feeling industrious, he decided to remove the bricks.

In the elevator shaft was a rope and pulley and on one end of the rope was an empty barrell. He pulled the barrel to the top and then descended to the lower floor and fastened the rope firmly at the bottom of the shaft. Then he climbed the ladders again, swung the barrell out into the shaft and filled it with bricks.

Down the ladders he climbed again, five stories, mind you, and untied the rope to let the barrell down. The barrell was heavier than he was and before he had time to grasp the situation he was going up the shaft like a sky rocket. He thought of letting go the rope but before he had decided to do so he was so high up that it seemed more dangerous to let go than to hold on. So he held on.

Half way up the elevator shaft he met the barrell of bricks coming down. The encounter was brief but spirited. He got the worst of it and continued on his way toward the roof. That is, most of him did, but considerable of his epidermis clung to the barrell and returned to earth. He struck the roof at the same time the barrell struck the cellar. The shock knocked the breath out of him and the bottom out of the barrel. Then, being heavier than the empty barrell, he started down the shaft while the barrell started up. They met in the middle of their journey and again the barrell upperout. Bim pounded his solar plexus, barked his shins, bruised his body and skinned his face.

When they became untangled he resumed his journey downward and the barrell went up higher. He was soon at the bottom and stopped so suddenly that he lost his presence of mind and let go of the rope. This released the barrell, which was at the top of the shaft and it fell five stories and landed squarely on top of him.

After getting out of the hospital he had an altercation with the insurance company in which he held an accident policy, and finally wrote the company as follows:

"Dear Sirs:

The soullessness of corporations is something to stun you. Instead of being a man of health and an honor to the community, I am now a relic of humanity just from the hands of a surgeon who made an honest effort to restore me to the form in which I grew to manhood's estate.

"Now here is where the heartlessness of your company comes in. I carry an accident policy in your company, by the terms of which you agree to pay me $25.00 a week during such time as I was prevented from working because of an accident. I sustained five accidents within two minutes. Once on my journey up the shaft when I met the barrell of bricks, the second when I struck the roof, the third when I struck the empty barrell, the fourth when I struck the bottom and the fifth when the barrell struck me. Your agent states that it was only one accident, not five, and instead of receiving payment at the rate of five times $25.00 I am only entitled to one accident at $25.00.

"I therefore inclose the policy and ask that you cancel the same as I have made up my mind that henceforth I am not to be skinned by either a barrell of an insurance company."

The case was tried before Judge Hildebrand. It was claimed that Audino had failed to account for $195.25 of money belonging to the organization.

In the case of the commonwealth against Albert Hedad, the jury found a verdict of guilty on the second count of the indictment charging the taking of child under 16 years for the purpose of marriage.

The case of Albert Omer, who is charged with taking Mary Bshero, under 16, for the purpose of marriage is now in trial before Judge Chambers. The Hedad charge grew out of this same case.

George Benedict is on trial before Judge Hildebrand today for the larceny of a dog, valued at $300. He denies the charge.

May I also say thank you to Mr. Rice and Mr. Melder, my opponents in the race? They were interested in winning, naturally, but they were also interested in fighting fairly and this feature I appreciate.

French Women Gaining On Men In Professions

By ALICE LANGELIER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Sept. 18.—That French women are fast becoming the equals of men in all professions, is once more illustrated by the recent election of young Mademoiselle Alette Carre as secretary of the Junior Bar, a distinguished position once held by two former presidents Raymond Poincare and Alexander Millerand having both been, in their probationary stages as barristers, "Secretaries de la Conference."

It is not often that a woman carries off this title. The first "barristress" to do so was Mlle. Rospar. Later came Mlle. Tinayre, daughter of the well-known author and then Suzanne Blum, a brilliant woman, the first one to be elected at her first trial.

To be elected member of the Secretariat de la Conference des Avocats is the highest honor that can come to a young lawyer in France. It is composed of the twelve Paris barristers-at-law in the first five years of their practice who have shown themselves the most eloquent pleaders in various contests that are held throughout the year.

Mademoiselle Carre, daughter of a retired colonel, is one of the most brilliant "stagiaires" France has ever known and seems to have the markings of a great lawyer. She is young and pretty, with long braids of auburn hair framing her face. Doctor of Laws, at a very early age, she has three times been a winner in the Paris Law Faculty competitions. Her recent election undoubtedly foretells future fame.

A plot of ground near the spot where the revolutionists' guillotine chopped off aristocratic heads will become United States territory on January 1, 1930.

On this plot, the northwest corner of the Place de la Concorde, will rise the new American Embassy. The Consular service and other public offices will also be housed in this building.

The government will take possession of the site on the first of the year and the building will be completed in 1932, according to Representative Milton William Shreve, of Pennsylvania, chairman of the subcommittee on Appropriation for the Department of State and the Department of Commerce.

Coming to Paris on business connected with the new embassy Representative Shreve said:

"The building will cost $1,114,000 and it will be constructed on the same architectural lines as the Rothchild mansion which housed the Cercle de l'Union Artistique on this site for many years.

"We have now twenty projects in view to provide suitable quarters for the foreign service."

Life will be sweeter in Paris this winter for the French Chamber of Deputies has recently reduced the tax on sugar and this extremely necessary article will be one half of a cent cheaper to the pound than it has been for some months past. This makes one whole cent on the kilogram which is an appreciable amount to the housekeeper at the jam-making season and to the cafe-keeper who sometimes begrudges that extra lump to some of his sweet-toothed customers.

State Entitled To More U. S. Jobs

Nearly 1000 More Places Are Due Citizens Of Pennsylvania

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 18.—Residents of Pennsylvania are entitled to fill 924 more federal positions in Washington under civil service than they now occupy.

Under the civil service law, the 36,820 classified federal government positions in Washington under civil service are supposed to be allotted to the various states according to population, Pennsylvania's share of the jobs numbering 2,992.

On the last day of August, however, only 2,068 of these position under civil service supervision were filled by residents of the Keystone State, 924 less than the number to which the State is entitled under the apportionment plan.

The Civil service commission explains that this inequality is the result of the failure on the part of Pennsylvania residents to take and pass civil service examinations in sufficient number to fill the positions to which the State is entitled and that residents of other states passing the examinations have been placed in the jobs rightfully belonging to Pennsylvania.

Good manners are very useful. They keep you from making a scene when the mannerless fellow gets served first.

PILOT LEE WILLEY and the APPARATUS THAT DOES the WORK.

If you are down in Mexico during the next few weeks and see an airplane laying what apparently is a smoke screen, don't assume that another revolution has broken out. The flyer probably will be Lee Willey, who has a commission to "dust" 10,000 acres of cotton, at Ligo de Algonodoneros, with insecticide. His plane, given a tryout at Los Angeles, is equipped with bins which carry 650 pounds of the bug-killing powder. By this method of spraying as much work can be accomplished in a few days as hundreds of men could do in many months.

INSURANCE AND THE BOY

If you have a boy three years old—younger or older for that matter—think this over. You can buy for him a 15-year endowment insurance policy which will pay him a guaranteed income every month for the four years he is in college. If you have had the advantage of attending a good college you will want your boy to have a similar opportunity. If you have not had that advantage you will be equally desirious of giving the boy a chance. Better make inquiry about that kind of an insurance policy.

SUN TAN

The summer, now nearly done, has been marked by an unusual development of the fad for sun tan. Some people have learned something they should have known before and they have had a painful time learning it. They have finally made the discovery they are "heliophobes". If you are a heliophobe you do not tan. You burn. Don't try to acquire a coat of tan if you can't get that way.

LUNCHEON

The luncheon hour or two hours or half hour or whatever you are accustomed to is an important time of the day. Unfortunately it has become an American custom in larger towns and cities for business men to transact affairs at lunch. They meet around the table and discuss some of the weightiest problems that confront them in the day. That's too bad. Unusual mental activity interferes with the joy of eating and the ease of digestion. What you eat is no more important than how you eat it—your mood, your speed, your whole frame of mind.

The manner and material of luncheon pretty much determine your stride for the afternoon. Eating too much and too heavy food means you are likely to be a total loss for two hours after you get back to the office.

MUCH ADO ABOUT NOTHING

If there is one thing more than another the matter with the scheme of things in which we live it is too great attention to trivial things on the part of people who ought to know better. In New Haven, Conn., somebody has petitioned council to pass a law compelling every female person to wear stockings while on the streets. There are 33 aldermen in that town and their time must be taken up for a public hearing on this matter.

Idleness mixed with dumbness certainly provokes some people to generate silly notions. Important matters wait because some hold-over from the Victorian era worries about women's legs.

AN ILLUSION

One of the commonest of illusions in this workaday world is the ill-considered belief on the part of the average man that he desires inactivity. Men are forever saying to each other that they are tired of the wear and tear of everyday work—in shop or office or wherever they may be. They suffer from an illusion. They just think they want to rest. They don't. Nothing keeps up the supply of happiness like activity, like work. You may think you never want to hear the telephone bell ring again. You may think you never want to have another caller in your office. But silence and idleness are more terrible than anything else. Try a few days with absolutely nothing to do. You will shatter the illusion of the joy of inactivity.

BOOK AGENTS

What a comfort an honest-to-goodness, old-fashioned book agent might be. Ultra-modern book agents come at you with the kind of approach that keeps you from suspecting they have anything to sell. They have chosen you among all men to become the recipient of a free set of books that are being introduced in this new and interesting way. They represent an organization which is restoring the homes of great Americans. They are advance representatives of a national exposition of great educational value to the American school boy. They are everything in the known world except book agents. Of course, before they are through with their carefully built up patter, you discover the book and the hook. They have something to sell. It is so little each month that it is indescribably trivial.

Queer that salesmen and saleswomen as clever as book agents often are do not gratify their prospects once in awhile by coming right out and saying: "I have a book to sell. The price is neither too low nor too high. It is reasonable. Here is the book. Have a look at it. Do you want it? No. Very well."

Such a book agent would be welcome in almost any office, and he might sell some books.

Goodbye "Bingo" At These Two Fairs

SHARON, Sept. 18.—There will be no Bingo at either the Mercer or Stoneboro fairs next year, according to an edict issued by District Attorney Leo H. McKay. He instructed County Detective Sam Leyshock to inform those having Bingo stands at the two fairs not to return next year as they would not be permitted to operate. Last year, the proprietors of Bingo stands were instructed that they could not operate them as a game of chance but that they must be operated as a game of skill. To conform with this ruling, a box was arranged with pigeon holes in it and the player attempts to throw a ball into the pigeon hole bearing the number he desires. Another arrangement is to have a board containing the numbers on the Bingo card and to throw a dart at the desired number. Both forms were considered purely a game of skill.

"How many pounds on de damper t'night?" queried my driver.

"Seven an' t'ree on de arm," replied the other.

Curiosity prompted inquiry. My chauffeur had asked the other how much he'd taken in so far that evening and the answer had been: "Seven dollars on the meter and three in tips."

"Take a squint at dis, Buddy," he replied, and from the recesses of his inner breast he pulled a little silver crucifix.

"Did you ever hear of Fultah Fisher's Boarding House?" I asked. He said he hadn't.

So I told him the story of Blue-eyed Hans who toted a little silver crucifix to keep him from farm—and of his ultimate tragic fate.

He thought it over for a time. "O' course," he said, "even wid a crucifix a guy mustn't fergit t' duck when de time comes."

"In other words," I said, "you have to use common sense even in a safety zone."

"Dat's de dope," he replied.

Women Vote To Ban 'Wet' Social Fetes

Will Not Attend Functions Where Liquor Is Served Is Ultimatum

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 18.—Many social leaders of Northern California joined in adopting of a resolution by the Women's Committee of 5,000 in which they pledged to refrain from participation in social functions where the prohibition law is violated.

After considerable discussion the committee, in annual convention, agreed that in case invitations to a social affair were accepted and liquor was then served they would only decline offers to drink and would not leave.

The committee, which was organized for action in behalf of prohibition enforcement, claims more than 5,000 members from clubs, school organizations, the W. C. T. U. and social service bodies.

Delegates elected Mrs. Paul Raymond, San Francisco, president, and Mrs. R. E. Swain, wife of the acting president of Stanford University, secretary.

Included in directors approved were Mrs. Theodore J. Hoover, sister-in-law of the President; Mrs. David Starr Jordan, wife of the noted educator; Mrs. W. W. Green and Dr. Marianna Bertola, former executives of the California Federation of Women's Clubs, and Kathleen Norris, writer.

Unclad Youth Found In Daze Accuses 2 Autoist Amazons

WILMINGTON, Sept. 18.—Equality for women today was raised to nth power a few miles north of here.

A young man found wandering at dawn, clad only in a pair of socks, declared two young women had assaulted him.

He said the girls picked him up here in an automobile and, after driving about the city for a time, took him to a lonely spot in the woods of Arden, the semi-communistic colony.

There one of them smote him over the head with a heavy auto tool and dragged him out of the car into the woods.

Then, after taking turns beating him, they stripped him of his clothing and turned him loose.

The victim said he was Hugh Martin, 25, of 2023 O street, N. W., Washington.

He told his story to state highway police at Delaware hospital, where doctors took five stitches in his scalp to close the wound made there by his feminine assailants.

The police declared they would hold Martin on a charge of disorderly conduct while search is made for the young women.

Martin gave his rescuers an elaborate description of the two young women.

Making a bootlegger drink what he sells would be capital punishment.

Laguardia Will Oppose Walker

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Congressman Fiorello H. Laguardia, Republican-Fusion candidate will oppose Mayor James J. Walker, Democrat, for re-election.

Returns early today in yesterday's primary election gave Laguardia an overwhelming lead over his independent rival, William M. Bennett, dry candidate who promised to close speakeasies as "public nuisances."

As the count neared its close Laguardia had a lead this morning of about 5 to 1 with a total of 56,000 votes. Less than 70,000 votes were cast by Republican voters throughout the city.

Taft Has Been Real Success As Chief Justice---Stewart

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—William Howard Taft, just turned 72 (Sept 15), has been such a success as chief justice of the federal supreme court that no one thinks of him as an ex-president.

In fact, he has lived down his presidential term.

He was not a conspicuous hit in that job. He "stood by his friends"—the worst mistake a White House tenant can make, according to all political calculators. Naturally he antagonized everyone else by doing so. Of course his friends deserted him when the pinch came. And look what happened to him.

* * *

Beaten for re-election, he immediately won all hearts by the fine spirit in which he took his licking.

It is bad enough to be defeated for the presidency, anyway.

To be defeated for re-election is about the limit.

A candidate who is nominated out of nothingness and then snowed under at the polls is at liberty to console himself with the thought that it was his party that the voters rejected—that the electorate probably had no objection to him personally.

It must be hard for a man who already has served a term to draw any other conclusion than that he has failed to give entire satisfaction, upon getting only 8 out of 531 electoral votes the second time.

To face such a situation with equanimity requires a mighty good loser.

Taft apparently was not even ruffled. His celebration smile and twinkle were as undimmed as ever, as he welcomed Woodrow Wilson into the executive mansion and stepped forth into the cold world, a private citizen.

And actually he subsequently accepted a reconciliation with Colonel Roosevelt. Politicians speak of it as nothing short of angelic.

CHIEF JUSTICE TAFT

If ever a man led a public life, it has been Chief Justice Taft.

He was born into the governing class—his father was secretary of war when the present head of the United States supreme bench was still three years short of his majority.

Young Taft himself was assistant prosecutor of Hamilton county (O.) at 24.

Thenceforward he never has been out of office for long enough at a time to amount to more than a much-needed vacation. He was a state supreme court justice at 30.

It was for the bench that nature intended Chief Justice Taft.

He has the "judicial temperament"—that was what caused a deal of his trouble as president—he always believed his appointees were innocent until they were proved to be guilty—and, if they happened to be among his personal friends, it took a lot of proving to convince him.

Not that he lacked versatility.

He was a first-class solicitor general of the United States, governor general of the Philippines, provisional governor of Cuba and secretary of war, but he always has surpassed himself handing down decisions on knotty points of law—in his 40's as a federal circuit judge in Ohio; in his 60's and 70's as chief of the august supreme tribunal in Washington.

Chief Justice Taft is a man of a great deal of ability; not of much imagination.

To him the law is what it means right now.

His fellow supreme court jurists, Justice Holmes and Brandeis (the rest are of no especial consequence), see not only its meaning of the moment; they see it also in the light of its meaning to the future.

Chief Justice Taft's wisdom, the breadth of his learning and the soundness of his judgment, are unquestioned.

Justice Holmes, in particular, is inspired.

Chief Justice Taft and his more prosaic colleagues, Justices Van Devanter, McReynolds, Sutherland, Butler, Sanford and Stone generally agree. If there is any chance to do so, Justice Holmes and Brandeis usually differ from them.

Fish Survive Low Water, Buller says

Water Did Not Reach Point Fatal To Fish In Streams

HARRISBURG, Sept. 18.—Commissioner of Fisheries N. R. Buller, who returned recently from a trip covering most sections of the commonwealth, reported that while there is extremely low water in practically all streams, to his knowledge, it has not reached a point where fish have died as a result.

The water condition at all the board's hatcheries is very little below normal and there has been sufficient flow at all times for the protection of the fish.

The board now is distributing large numbers of small-mouthed bass which are being placed in the larger bodies of water. Many of the bass being distributed are five and six inches in length.

September and October, Buller believes, should be two of the best months for bass fishing and he hopes that sufficient rain will fall so that the waters will be livened up, thereby affording much fishing.

Believe Last Message From Captain Found

GRAND HAVEN, Mich., Sept. 18.—What is believed to have been that last desperate message of Captain Albert A. Anderson of the ill-fated steamship Andaste, which was wrecked a week ago with its crew of 25, was found here, written upon a piece of wood, floating near where coast guards sought for bodies.

The message, crudely written in the gale, read: "This is the worst storm I have been in in years. We can't stay up long. Hope to God we are rescued.

(Signed) "A. A."

Fourteen bodies have now been recovered and coast guards were trying to bring to shore two more.

A feminine writer says no wife should suffer in silence. But if she is silent, how can she keep from suffering?

The final test of this no-stocking fad will come on December 24.

Lindberghs To Face Smallpox In Canal Zone

All Residents Of District Being Vaccinated Against Epidemic In Panama

LEAVE TODAY ON CARIBBEAN FLIGHT

By DAVID P. SENTNER.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and his wife will face the danger of a smallpox area in the Panama Canal Zone during their 7,000-mile air tour of South America which begins in a few days.

When the famous flying couple drop in on Cristobal in the Canal Zone for a stopover of ten days it is probable that they will be newly vaccinated. All residents of the Canal Zone are being vaccinated under orders of the health authorities.

While no Americans have contracted the disease as yet, accordin to dispatches today from Balboa, there are 115 smallpox cases, recorded in Panama and other cases reported in the Canal Zone.

Colonel Lindbergh and his wife took off from Roosevelt field for Miami. They will leave on September 20 from Miami on a 21-day flight around the Caribbean in a reverse direction to that taken by the colonel in his good-will tour of South America almost two years ago.

The flight will inaugurate air mail service from the United States to Dutch Guiana. Mail will also be carried over the present Pan American Airways line to San Juan, Porto Rico. The new mail line will go from there through the Virgin Islands, Antigua, St. Lucia, Trinidad and British Guiana to Paramaribo.

Transfer Books Close October 1

Transfer books at the office of the city assessor will be closed October 1 it was stated today. After the books are closed the clerks will commence to write duplicates. This means that persons who sells property after October 1 will not be able to have them transferred on this year's books at city hall.

Regard Henry Ford As Greatest Man In World Industry

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.— "Everywhere in Europe, Henry Ford is regarded as the greatest figure in industry."

Paul Hyde Bonner, vice president of the Stehli Silk Corporation, made that statement when he returned home on the Caledonia after having held a series of conferences with business and political leaders in England and on the continent.

"The Ford idea of putting the working man on the map commercially is now generally accepted as ideal," Bonner said. "Production for the working man will bring an increase in the output of every known commodity. This will mean many times the consumption Europe has formally had, of luxuries as well as of necessities."

Gradually scientists invent new and better way to do everything except say "Please remit."

New Bills To Stay Secret Service Says

Deny Small Money Is Easy To Counterfeit; Perfect Copies "Impossible"

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18. — Treasury officials said today that the report that the new small paper money put out recently would be recalled because the government had discovered that it was easy to counterfeit has no foundation. There is no thought of withdrawing the issue, and the suggestion that it can be readily duplicated is untrue, officials declared.

"There is no such thing as a perfect counterfeit," said Chief of Secret Service W. H. Moran. "The man who makes the original could not exactly reproduce every mark on it."

Asked if he thought any counterfeiter ever made money that was not detected, Mr. Morgan said: "No, we have a system which makes that impossible. We of the Secret Service do not detect counterfeit; bankers do that, and it is our duty to get the maker of the counterfeit."

There are in circulation now $346,681,000 of the old United States notes, and it was predicted that not more than $300,000,000 of them would come in. There are still outstanding $1,282,900 of the issue of Treasury notes of 1890. They were called in in 1900. Notes issued during the Civil War are still coming in to the treasury.

LEGION CAR TO BE WELL FILLED

Committee Assured That All Reservations Will Be Taken For Louisville Trip

Announcement was made this morning by members of the committee in charge of securing reservations for the special car to the national convention of the American Legion at Louisville that they have been assured that all reservations will be taken up.

Approximately 15 local Legionnaires will make the trip to Louisville, while the others who will leave in the New Castle car will come from other towns in the district and from Mercer county.

The convention will open on September 30th and close on October 4th. Pennsylvania will be well represented, as many other districts besides the 26th are planning to send large delegations, special fare rates having been offered members of the Legion and their families. The state delegation will be represented by approximately 20 bugle corps and bands, in addition to the several thousand Legionnaires who are expected to make the trip.

No Curtailing Of Air Mail Service

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept 18.—Post-office officials have no idea of curtailing the present airmail service even though operating expenses for the fiscal year may run about $2,000,000 over the appropriation, Assistant Postmaster General Glover said today.

The cost of service for the present fiscal year will be about $15,000,000 while only $13,508,080 was appropriated.

Hard to Resist the Flavor When Cooked This Appetizing Way

A well-known woman cooking authority, realizing the importance of vegetables in the diet, has worked out this new recipe for Flemish Carrots:

Scrape 18 young carrots and slice lengthwise into thin strips like matches. Melt 6 tablespoons butter. Add carrots, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 teaspoon of chopped parsley, and salt. Cover the pan and let simmer until tender, about 20 minutes, turning frequently with a spoon. Add cream, stir well, heat and serve.

Remember the importance of vegetable foods in the daily diet, and profit by the old secret rediscovered by four famous women cooking experts. Add a dash of sugar to each vegetable while it is cooking. The little sugar works wonders for freshness, color and taste.

Sugar is the supreme condiment for developing the delicate, natural flavors of fruits and vegetables so that children and adults will be tempted to eat variety. The balanced diet is so important in promoting health that it is well to serve stewed and fresh fruits daily. If your family does not drink enough milk, serve milk shakes, eggnogs and milk desserts, such as junkets and custards. Add a dash of sugar to cooking cereal to develop its flavor. Serve cakes and cookies containing chocolate or cocoanut, ices and ice creams, canned berries and fruits, or candy for dessert. A bit of sweet makes the meal complete. The Sugar Institute.

Court Puts End To Pedestrian's Endurance Test

PORTLAND, Ore. Sept. 18.—Peter Fountain's endurance test came to an end in Municipal Judge Stadter's police court here recently.

Peter, who told the court, he came here from Wisconsin, was picked up about daylight on a charge of vagrancy.

"Guilty or not guilty?" asked the court.

"Well," answered the prisioner "yes and no. You see it's this way, judge. I haven't had any sleep for seven days and seven nights."

"How come?" quiered the judge

"Been making an endurance test," explained Peter. "Was reading so much about those fiers that I thought I'd try and see how they felt going without sleep, so I've just been wandering around—sort of a nonstop walk But I don't think I can beat the record."

He was told to get himself a room and some sleep and the court would forget about it.

MOTHERS now learn value of MAGNESIA

Because it is so helpful in keeping babies and children healthy and happy, every mother should know about Phillips Milk of Magnesia.

This harmless, almost tasteless preparation is most effective in relieving those symptoms of babies and children generally caused by souring food in the little digestive tract, such as sour-belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, colic. As a mild laxative, it acts gently, but certainly, to open the little bowels in constipation, colds, children's diseases.

A teaspoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia does the work of half a pint of lime water in neutralizing cow's milk for infant feeding, and preventing hard curds. Its many uses for mother and child are fully explained in the interesting book "Useful Information." It will be sent you, FREE. Write The Phillips Co., 117 Hudson St., New York, N. Y.

In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co., and its predecessor, Chas. H. Phillips, since 1875.

"NEW KONJOLA PROVED ITS MERIT TO ME"

"I Eat And Enjoy Many Things I Dared Not Touch Before," Says Grateful Man.

MR. FRANK M. DONAHUE

"For some time I had been bothered with stomach trouble", said Mr. Frank M. Donahue, 214 North Centre street, Pottsville, Pa. "Every meal was more or less of a gamble. It was a question as to whether or not the food I ate would cause suffering. I was bothered by gas, indigestion pains, dizzy spells or just a sick, listless feeling after most of my meals.

"A friend of mine urged me to try this new Konjola, and I decided to give it a chance. I now eat and enjoy many things I dared not touch before, and don't have to worry about after effects. Indigestion pains, gas and dizzy spells are things of the past. I am glad to recommend Konjola. It proved its merits to me. I hope that others will benefit from my experience."

Konjola is sold in New Castle, Pa. at Love & Megown drug store and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

One Out Of Every Five Persons Bridge Addict

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—One out of every five adults in the country is a bridge addict and the number is increasing steadily, Commander Winfield Liggett, Jr., one of the experts asembled here for the second annual convention of bridge players, said today. Every state is represented.

Of this number Liggett rated two—William C. Whitehead and Milton C. Work—as 100 per cent or perfect players. The average player was rated as 32.

The convention itself presents a strange sight to the mass included in the 80 per cent of non-bridge players.

If one of the players takes exception to the reproof of the teacher he may present his case. If his explanation holds water after the experts has picked it over, he is applauded but if he has pulled "a boner he is subjected to jeers.

IS BABY "ACT OF GOD"?

The New York theatrical world is torn over the momentous question: "Is a baby an act of God—say, for example, like Fanny Brice's ex-nose?"

Helen Hayes of "Coquette," Charlie MacArthur's current Missus, closed the show suddenly with the announcement that she was about to become a mother and was no longer able to appear on the stage. The actors who have run-of-the-play contracts are protesting the sudden disbandment, without pay. The contracts provide that there is no escape from responsibility for salaries except in case of fire, strikes or "an act of God"—and its' on this last contingency that Joe Bickerton, Big Blackstone Boy for Jed Harris, the producer, has pegged his case.

If it is finally decided that Helen's baby is an "act of God" it may be that Old Charlie MacArthur may have something to say for publication.

NO CHARGE HERE!

A cleaning and dyeing establishment in New York has had the same window display for 25 years without any charge. It consists of a small stuffed cat standing on its hind legs at a washtub scouring half a dozen chicks, while adjacent to the tub, several other baby fowls, having already been scrubbed, are suspended on a line to dry.

Times and customs have changed. The saloon has gone, the Waldorf is being torn down, the map of Europe has been revamped. Sophistication rules the roost. A spade a called a steam shovel. Hatless and irreverent, youth strides the highway laughin' at love, spitting at the stars.....And through it all, the cat has gone on washing the chickens in the show window of the cleaning and dyeing establishment, serene as a clock ticking through a thunderstorm.

A CHILD'S STORY

Jack Haley, the big laugh in "Follow Thru," is the father of a five-year-old bundle of fascinating fragments, who, the other day, fared forth for the first time from the sheltering shade of the paternal radiator in answer to the call of the distant schoolbell.

Unversed in the procedure obtaining under such circumstances, the parents of the fair young student permitted her to enter the academy minus the customary dill pickle, ham sandwich, wedge of pie, Baldwin apple and container of milk that make up a baby scholar's midday repast.

Thus, when the 12 o'clock whistle blew and the youngsters discarded their algebras, philosophies, biology books and atlases to go out and eat, little Miss Haley, having nothing to consume, did what any well bred woman of the world would have done under similar circumstances. She sat where she was and said nothing.

A teacher came across her there later, and wanted to know why she wasn't lunching.

"Because," replied the baby, "I'm dieting."

"For heaven's sake, child, what for?"

"Just because I don't want to get fat," was the answer.

The newest stories are those longest forgotten.

Fifteen years from now, Jack Haley's baby press agent will spring this as original.

"B" On Belt Buckle Betrays Applicant For Auto License

HARRISBURG, Sept. 18.—"Betrayed by 'B' on Belt Buckle" is a fitting caption for the story of how a motor patrolman prevented the fraudulent procuring of a driver's card.

At the Chester examining station Patrolman J. H. Hunchberger was putting "Clifton S. Gordy" through the course of sprouts required of applicants for the driving privilege. The applicant passed the driving test satisfactorily, but failed on the motor law questions. Hunchberger was all sympathy.

"Too bad," he commiserated. "Too bad, Gordy. And that is your name, isn't it?"

The applicant nodded.

"Then why do you have the initial 'B' on your belt buckle?" demanded the observant patrolman.

The man was Edward H. Brewington, not Clifton S. Gordy, it developed. In the motor car in which he drove to the examining station was a Clifton S. Gordy, the nephew of the man presumed to be undergoing the examination, but who sent a substitute, he said, because he didn't have time, personally, and feared he would fail, beside. Brewington got 10 days in jail and will have to show cause why his driver's card should not be revoked. The younger Gordy paid $25 and costs for taking part in the fraud, and a warrant has been issued for the uncle.

NOW LEGAL TO KILL BLACKBIRDS; IN FLIGHT

HARRISBURG, Sept. 18.—It is now legal to kill "four and twenty blackbirds" for those who like that type of people, officials of the game commission today pointed out. The season opened August 1, but little hunting is done until the birds form in flocks for migration. The open season ends November 30.

Geologist Goes To Find Secret Mine In India

By F. A. WRAY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Sept. 18.—A young British scientist, Cecil S. Garnett, has started on an air dash to India to explore a secret mine which may revolutionize industry.

Garnett is one of the celebrated geologists in Europe. Now, hammer in hand, and with millions of pounds at stake, he is seeking to find out whether a mine in the Assam hills does really contain one of the most valuable minerals in the world—sillimanite.

Sillimanite may be the "philisopher's stone" for which modern industry has been searching for years. It is claimed to be capable of resisting any heat, and, if it really can resist the tremendous heat of the furnaces of today untold millions will be saved.

High Prices

Synthetic sillimanite sells at $55 to $60 a ton, but it cannot prevent furnaces cracking. The world has been searched for the real mineral but only tiny quantities have been found. But now there is said to be a mighty mine of sillimanite in the Assam hills—waiting for the little geologist with the hammer.

"If Garnett's report is favorable," says H. E. Moon, late manager of the Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank at Calcutta who is financing the venture, "there are millions of pounds in it.

"And it was only the honesty of one man that prevented this colossal fortune from being captured by a private individual.

Dr. Fox, a Government official, was inspecting a shipment of corundum, a polishing mineral. He looked at it closely and to his amazement found it was sillimanite. If he had cared to keep quiet and buy the rights to the mine he would now be a multi-millionaire in pounds sterling."

Gigantic Mine

Moon described how he had tracked right into the wilds of the Assam Hills. "I stood in a gigantic mine of the stuff," he said. "I never felt so rich in my life."

The backers of the scheme have only one fear. That is that Garnett has another passion in life besides geology—orchids. He has searched for orchids in every part of the world and has been commissioned both by King George and Lord Rothchild to find new specimens for them. "If he will only look for sillimanite and keep clear of orchids," says Moon, "everything will be O. K."

Fad For Bare Legs Now Spreads To Golf

(International News Service)

LONDON, Sept. 18.—The fad for bare legs, which became the main topic of conversation along the sidelines of England's tennis courts this summer, has now spread to golf, and scores of stockingless girls are to be seen on the courses around London.

The suddenness with which this craze for bare legs struck the golf courses has not given the club committees time to debate whether or not it is "just the thing", but a concensus of opinion in the clubrooms of the more fashionable clubs finds the men strongly opposed to allowing their minds to be distracted from their games by the bare legs of women golfers.

On the other hand, the women appear to be all for it.

Worms Bring Big Loss To Washington Apples

(International News Service)

WENATCHEE, Wash., Sept. 18.—Apple growers of the Wenatchee district will pay a "worm bill" of some $4,000,000 this year according to R. Edward Trumbel, horticulturist who claims the worm pest to be the worst in 25 years.

Trumbel predicts the 1929 apple crop will be reduced 20 per cent in this region and that the loss will have a vital effect on the apple market.

During the past quarter century, Trumbel estimates growers have lost $51,000,000 to the boring pest.

High winds during the spraying season and an especially favorable year for the development of a second brood of worms was held responsible.

Miner With Crushed Foot Is Rescued By Small Pet Dog

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Sept. 18.—"Doc" Buhl of Saltese, Idaho, was prospecting recently when his foot was crushed by a rolling stone.

"Doc" tied a note on the neck of his diminutive fox terrier and sent her out for aid. She failed at first to grasp what was expected of her and returned at noon with the note still intact.

"Doc" fed her and sent her out again, but she returned in a few hours. This time the prospector gave her a good scolding instead of food and ordered her out of camp for the third time.

The dog reached the home of a friend in Saltese at nine o'clock in the evening and aid was immediately dispatched.

Remember, however, that your present imperfect heating system would sound ideal in a magazine ad.

Husband Sues Sect As Alienating Wife

Asks $200,000, Charging Mennonites Barred Relationship With Him

SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 18.—A suit for $200,000 damages, alleging alienation of his wife's affections by 12 of the Pennsylvania Mennonites through his excommunication from that church, is being brought by Aden Shank of this city, formerly of Zullinger, near Waynesboro, Pa.

William L. Beezley, attorney for Shank, revealed details of the suit, proceedings in which have been instituted in the Franklin county court in Pennsylvania.

Last spring Shank obtained a divorce here on the grounds of desertion and cruelty.

Beezley said Shank's refusal to accede to demands of leaders of the Mennonite sect that he rid himself of corporation stocks was the cause of his excommunication.

The decree forbade any member of the sect from associating or eating with him and from maintaining any sort of family relationship.

Returns From Farms In New England Less

Although Farms Throughout Rest Of Nation Improve, New England Is On Downgrade

VALUE OF PRODUCTS DECREASES 17 PER CENT

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 18.—Although farm returns in the country at large in 1928 showed improvement over 1927 and were the best for any year since the post-war agricultural depression, the farms of New England showed an aggregate decrease in returns of 17 per cent, according to the annual survey of farm returns by the bureau of agricultural economics of the department of agriculture.

Reports from 11,851 owner-operated farms in all parts of the country indicate an average net return of $1,334 for the year 1928, as compared with an average returne of $1,290 on 13,859 farms in 1927. The reports show a difference of $94,050 between the highest and the lowest returns. Twenty-six per cent showed returns between $1,000 and $2,000. 45 per cent reported between zero and $1,000, and nine per cent reported losses.

The average net return in the country in 1926 was $1,133. In 1925 it was $1,297, in 1924 the net return was $1,205, in 1923 it was $1,020 and in 1922 the net return was $917.

Gross receipts were larger in 1928 than in 1927 on the average, but expenses were also higher. The average size of the farms reporting for last year was 284 acres with an average investment of $15,417. Average gross receipts were $2,608, consisting of $946 from sales of crops, $936 from sales of livestock, $689 from sales of livestock products and $37 from miscellaneous other items. Average current cash expenses last year totaled $1,518, the report states.

State Lands May Be Unfenced But Someone Owns It

Not One Acre Of Pennsylvania Ground Is Without Owner, Survey Head States

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Sept. 18.—The fact that millions of acres of forest lands are without fences or apparent boundary lines does not mean that one acre of the vast domain in Pennsylvania is without an owner, T. O. Bietsch, Chief of the Land Survey Division of the Department of Forests and Waters said today.

All the lands in the commonwealth are divided into seated and unseated land, Bietsch said. Seated land is that which has improvements and buildings on it, while the unseated lands are made up of forests, the greater part unfenced.

Ownership of unseated lands in Pennsylvania is based on different titles. First, the clear chain of title dating from William Penn's agents or the issuing of a patent by the commonwealth. The former is more or less rare, while the latter is quite common, especially regarding the titles to the state forest lands. Second, title based on county treasurer's or commissioners' sales, and usually referred to as tax sale land which has been sold for non-payment of taxes. Third, squatters' titles, of which there are very few in Pennsylvania, is ownership obtained by prescribed rights founded upon undisputed occupancy for a period of 21 years. Fourth, vacant land, or that which has never left the ownership of the commonwealth. There is comparatively little of this land remaining.

And so the earth is losing speed. Well, that sounds hopeful. Perhaps it is on the up grade.

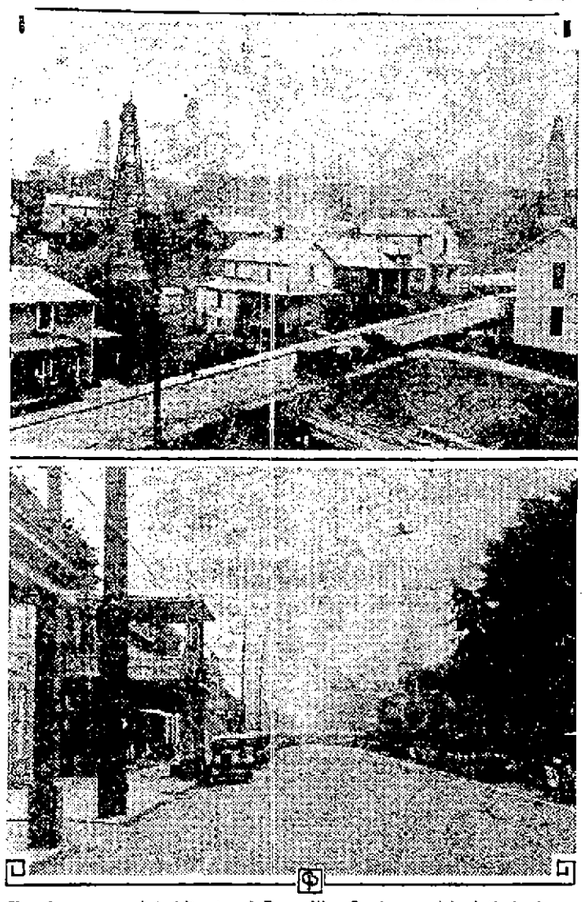
"TALE OF TWO CITIES" TOLD IN OIL



For four years inhabitants of Roseville, O., have wished their forefathers had staked out claims in Crooksville, two miles away, since oil gushers were bringing fortunes to their neighbors. Now, the tale is reversed, since Crooksville is practically dry because wells were drilled too closely together, but Roseville is in the midst of a boom as the result of the striking of a 400-barrel gusher. Above, a view of the main street of Roseville and a section of Crooksville, showing how thickly oil wells dot the community.

Sheik Bandits Elude Capture

Trio Keep Residents Of Northumberland County In State Of Apprehension

By CLYDE SHUE

International News Service Staff Correspondent

MOUNT CARMEL, Pa., Sept. 18.—Burglary methods more elusive than the proverbial "greased pig" are being employed by the three "sheik" bandits who have infested Northumberland county and its environs during the past month. Still at large after an extensive and concerted search by practically all available state and local police, the robbing trio have invaded the homes and highways of nearly every town in this section and have defied police in their efforts to capture them.

Operating on the highways as dapper "hitch hikers", as a means of obtaining entrance to the town, the bandits are known to turn suddenly on the motorists who have offered them a "lift" and take full charge of the machine for the purpose of banditry. All tourists have been warned of the condition in this region and are governing themselves accordingly.

Befriended by kind motorists on the highways, the group, nattily clad and presenting a well groomed appearance, suddenly remove the masks of friendship and resort to gun play and force to carry out their plans. Virtually every nick and corner of the highways and byways leading into Mount Corner now is being patrolled by grim faced posses and police, determined to put to an end the terrorizing depradations of the bandits.

Sensing the seriousness of the citizens who have risen in anger to demand their capture, the robbers have ceased operations for the time being and are believed to be hiding in the dense woods and forests of the vicinity. But the sheik bandits are not believed to have left the county. And the people of Northumberland will not be set at rest until the men are caught and placed behind prison bars.

The trio actually committed nine known hold-ups, attempted a number of others and were suspected of many more which originated from imagination of the townsfolk. The first of the series of robberies occurred August 26 and the nine others followed, the last one being reported September 10.

Scientist Finds Ant With Tumor Of Brain

Ants rival humans not only in the complexity of their social structure but in the intricacy of their ailments. An insane ant a unique phenomenon in scientific annals has been reported by Dr. Robert Staeger of Berlin according to Science and Service.

While observing a colony of common European species of ants Dr. Staeger noticed one individual running around and around in circles. It attacked members of its own colony that came in its way and behaved in an otherwise abnormal fashion. The circles always bore to the right and after a few days the insect's right feet and antenna began to drag.

Circumstances came about that made it impossible for Dr. Staeger to watch the ant any longer so he killed it and sent it to Dr. Rudolf Brun of Zurich a specialist interested in such matters. Microscopic dissection revealed a tumor on the left side of the insect's brain a condition that apparently has been reported in scientific literature before. In this brain no bigger than a small pinhead the nerve fibres cross each other just as they do in man's so that injury on the left side caused difficulties with the members on the right side of the body.

$1,000,000,000 Put As Airport Cost For 1931

By HOMER H. METZ.
International News Service Aviation Editor.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—During the year 1931, fully $1,000,000,000 will be spent for airport development throughout the United States.

This information which well illustrates the growing airmindedness of the masses, was contained in a recent announcement by Roland D. Doane of the Lehigh Portland Cement company which is sponsoring a nation-wide competition for the design of modern flying fields.

Done pointed out that the growth of the aviation industry will always be gauged by the extent of airport development.

Plan Much Building.

"From the time Lindbergh landed in Paris until the end of 1928 about $300,000,000 was spent in airports in this country" he said. "By spring of 1930 an additional $500,000,000 will have been spent according to the most reliable estimates and in 1931 a billion dollars more will be expended."

The Lehigh Portland Cement company is sponsoring its airport design contest because Doane believes there is plenty of room for improvement in the modern airport.

"It is essential to consider the future potentialities of air traffic in order to plan today in a manner that will not become obsolete in a few years' Doane declared. "Shortsightedness in airport planning will cost American citizens and municipalities untold millions of dollars to say nothing of hindering the progress of aviation.

Far-Sighted Plans.

"Sound and far-sighted planning should be encouraged to guide the further development of existing airports and those that are to come in the next few years so that the hundreds that are being spent for this purpose will in no measure be wasted through early inadequacy or obsolescence.

"It is expected that the $10,000 in prizes offered by the Lehigh Portland Cement Company for the best designs of modern airports will result in a great many entries from professional men and that this concentration of professional opinion on the subject will point the way to a solution of the basic planning problems that may become standard for all normal airports.

One Of Escaped Convicts Caught

Posse Of 200 Seeking Companion Of Negro Who Fled Rockview Penitentiary

(International News Service)

HUNTINGDON, Pa., Sept. 18.—With Farley Jennings of Philadelphia county lodged in jail after his capture near the Mount Union sand quarries, a posse of nearly 200 men today was seeking John Williams of Erie, who still was at large after the two negroes escaped from Rockview penitentiary a week ago today.

Spurred by the injury of Chief of Police Cramer of Mt. Union, struck over the head with a piece of pipe when he attempted to arrest the two convicts, the posses believed they would find Williams today. Chief Cramer is in the hospital here with a fractured skull and other injuries.

Jennings, armed with a gun taken from Cramer, was captured by Sheriff Samuel H. Beaver. He had doubled back on his tracks, after taking east to the mountains and was trying to push through a cordon of local and state police heading west.

Penitentiary authorities here from Bellefonte aiding in the search believed the men split up to make capture more difficult. Williams making to the east.

Japan Joins France And Italy Against Sub Abolishment

Delegates Are Holding Numerous Conferences On Future Status Of Submarine

(International News Service)

GENEVA, Sept. 18.—Japan intends to join hands with France and Italy in opposing the suggestion that submarines be abolished, it was strongly intimated here today.

Delegates of those three powers are holding numerous conferences upon naval affairs, especially the future status of the submarine.

A member of the Japanese delegation informed International News Service that his country is "very firm" upon retention of submarines as a weapon of defense. He called this agency of warfare "the poor man's defense," adding:

"If President Hoover and Premier Ramsay MacDonald already have reached an agreemnt for abolishing submarines it will place France, Italy and Japan in a most difficult position."

In a field of 11 candidates, Cook carried both the city and the county districts. Charles E. Rhodes, former mayor, is the Republican nominee for re-election and Samuel B. Taylor and Irvin H. Isenberg were renominated for their present posts as city commissioners.

Crepe Fools Cop, But When Mourners Stagger Under Grief, He Investigates

BOSTON, Sept. 18.—Mrs. Bridget Mullin failed to speak easy when she said it with flowers.

For two nights the policeman on the beat trend softly as he passed her crepe-hung door.

He saw crowds passing in and out of the house while the wake was in progress and noted that even the men seemed to stagger under their burden of sorrow.

The mourning continued until fire broke out in the house next door. After the blaze had been extinguished the policeman was unable to locate the owner of the building. So he went apologetically to Mrs. Mullin's home for aid.

She appeared so perturbed by his appearance that, policemanlike, he became suspicious.

"Who's dead here?" he finally inquired.

Mrs. Mullin's perturbation increased to such a pitch that the officer started, through her that, but his search for the cause of all the grief was in vain.

"Go down and take that crepe off the door," he ordered. Inquiry disclosed that twice Mrs. Mullin had been convicted on bootlegging charges.

Aviation Still Young Industry Big Races Show

By BURL A. FLY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 18.—Although figures made public by the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce and other aeronautical organizations show that amazing strides have taken America's infant industry from the crib and placed it alongside some of the foremost industries of the nation and world, aviation leaders regard the exploitations of the air still in its early stages.

The revelation, as unfolded here during the 1929 National Air Races and Aeronautical Exposition, of how fast air-minded the United State has become during the 25-year history of aviation was highly gratifying. But while a gaping world stared in amazement at the aeronautical show, those intimately associated with the industry, confidently predicted that the world "ain't seen nothing yet."

Picture of Future

They pictured a future for aviation that is beyond the conception of the imagination of the human brain. They startled with their dreams that in any other day or age would have branded them as lunatics. In this modern world, however, although there may be doubts as to the materialism of some of the fantastic dreams of these men of the air, very few have the courage to definitely deny the possibility that these dreams in years to come may become realities.

"The time will come," these dreamers declare, and then proceed to visualize a conquest of the air that sends cold chills of thrill shivering through the listener.

For instance there is the prediction of one aviation enthusiast that "the time will come" when we will be able to attach a tiny mechanism to our shoulders and fly.

That ships of the air will soon be manufactured in mass production, is no common prediction. In fact, it is easily discernible that this one prediction that is rapidly becoming a reality.

One airplane designer, who had a new model airplane on display at the aeronautical exposition, claimed that he was preparing to go into the mass production of airplanes. His craft was one of unique design and contained some features that were entirely new in airplane development. He confidently called his plane the future "flivver of the air."

Facing Problems

The design of his craft was built to geometric principles and is so constructed, according to his claims, that the bulk or mass of weight is extraordinarily close to the center of gravity. In addition, the plane is equipped with brakes that can bring the plane to a quick and abrupt stop without any danger of the ship tilting over.

"The time will come," predicted another aviation enthusiast, when engines will be built so light that their weight will be practically negligible in comparison with their horsepower.

This matter of lighter engines and greater horsepower, incidentally seems to be probably the greatest problem confronting the aviation industry at present. Upon the solution of this, at any rate, depends the feasibility of the prediction that man in time to come can attach a tiny mechanism to his shoulders and fly.

Have Pep Meeting At High School

On Tuesday morning in the auditorium of the senior high school the first pep meeting of the school year was held when the Sophomores of the school assembled to learn the cheers which will be used at the football games this season.

The meeting was in charge of John Brice who is the head of the cheer leaders this year. On Thursday morning the remainder of the classes in school will assemble in the auditorium when the football players on this year's eleven will be introduced to the student body. Cheers will also be practiced at that time.

National Farm Outlook

By ARTHUR H. JENKINS
Editor, The Farm Journal, Written For Central Press.

It seems difficult for many people to understand why farmers need be bothered by surpluses of crops.

We have been hearing of these surpluses for the last nine years, or ever since the war-time campaign for "more production" came to an end.

In these days, I receive many letters from puzzled citizens saying, in effect: "If the trouble with farmers is surpluses, why on earth do they continue to grow so much? Why not reduce their acreage, or why not produce something of which there is a shortage?"

The answer to that is simple, of course, but it seems not to occur to many people.

Farmers understand perfectly well that over-production hurts themselves and everybody else. But the difficulty comes when we ask: "Just who is going to do the reducing?"

If a grower of cotton, for example, knew for a certainty that every other grower of cotton would reduce his acreage by 25 per cent, he could, and undoubtedly would, go along and do the same. The resulting cotton crop would be short, and prices would go up.

But how could a cotton planter be sure that all other growers would cut down their acreage? Who would guarantee it? Who would inspect 1,900,000 cotton plantations and enforce the reduction? Who would say to a young farmer: "You did not grow any cotton last year, therefore you can't grow any this year, nor ever in the future?"

On the face of it, the thing is not possible. Neither voluntary organization nor laws nor public opinion could keep a large proportion of cotton growers, or farmers in any line, from going ahead and putting in a big acreage, aiming to profit by a huge crop at high prices at the expense of farmers who reduced.

Every farmer knows these facts. He is willing enough to do his part to hold down unmanageable surpluses, but before he does it, he must have the ironclad assurance that all the other farmers in his line will do their parts also.

No such guarantee can be given. And so the farmer, declining to be made the goat, goes ahead on his own individual operations, producing just as much as he possibly can on a given area of land, with what time, labor and money he has at his disposal.

If a surplus results—well, that is just too bad; but anyway, he has his large production of cotton, or whatever it is, which he can sell, and no other farmer has the best of him.

That is the farmer's reasoning, and it would be your reasoning if you were in his place.

Cyclist Upsets Crockery Store, Hat Blows Off

BROOKLYN, Sept. 18.—A motorcycle in a china shop proved more disastrous than the proverbial bull today when Peter Calandra, 23, suddenly swerved from Moore street and rode through the front window of a crockery store owned by Abraham Rugowitz.

Police estimated the damage at $2000 and arrested Calandra, who was only frightened.

He said his hat blew off, he reached for it and the next thing he knew he was sitting in a pardiniere.

Will Blast Channels Of Mercer Streams

Mercer County Commissioners Buy Ton Of Dynamite To Straighten Channels

MERCER, Pa., Sept. 18.—One ton of dynamite with sufficient power to make correction in a number of river channels in Mercer county has been bought by the commissioners and is being put to use.

The plan of correcting the channels of obstreperous streams that are undermining the abutments of county bridges is that of Commissioner Harry Hunter who has charge of roads and bridges.

Tests were made last fall and this spring with the best of results. The dynamite is placed under the direction of Hunter and County Engineer F. P. Graham. Where a river current is washing out the bridge supports a new channel is created by this medium and the force of the stream directed in a harmless direction. The result is the saving of a new bridge.

As the whole ton is to be exploded this fall and the average channel is blown out by the placing of 500 pounds there will be plenty of noise along the Shenango and other large streams of the county.

PLAN NEW ROADS

Two improved roads will be built in Mercer County next year totaling 14 miles and connecting up very important thoroughfares.

The routes will cost three-quarters of a million and will be paid for county and state. Starting at Millbrook and building through to Sandy Lake this town and Grove City will be connected as well as establishing a new route from Pittsburgh north. From Greenville to the Ohio line will be built a new route for motorists opening up Ohio territory.

The roads will be let this fall and work to start next spring to be finished by fall of 1930.

BUILD WIDE ROAD

The Perry Highway from here north to Meadville will be 36 feet wide it is made known here today by Engineer T. F. Frame of Franklin who has charge of the engineering for the state highway department for this district.

The concrete will be 20 ft. in width with 8 foot bermes on each side. The state have a right of way of 90 feet on this road as shown by the old maps. Farmers with building on the right of way will have them to move as there is no doubt of the state and county land rights.

The Bird Construction Company who have the contract for the link from Mercer to the intersection of the Clarks Mills and Sheakleyville highways have started work at this end.

They expect to build from here to the home of Cliff North two and one-half miles from Mercer this fall.

The road will be one of the widest guage of any in the county and so far as local records show of any in Western Pennsylvania. It is the belief of the state engineers that the route will be the favorite to northern points with motorists due to its reduced mileage and because of this fact have widened the route.

MANY CLAIM REWARD

The $1000 reward offered by Mercer county for the arrest and conviction of the bomber of the home of ex-mayor F. S. Fish of Farrell was the theme of a court hearing Monday when testimony of half a dozen claimants was heard by Judge J. A. McLaughry who will render decision later.

ANSWER FILED

The surcharge of $300 made by the auditors of Jefferson township against four members of the school board, is the subject of a answer filed yesterday by the three auditors. C. C. Hause, R. Ealy and Jesse Anderson. In their answer the trio allege that they gave notice to the filing of the surcharge and had them before them to answer to the charge. It is claimed by the auditors that a contract for $300 was illegally let by the four. The amount totaled a sum which the law provides must be taken care of by bid which the auditors claim was not done. The four directors will have the amount to pay themselves if the court finds them responsible. Hearing will be held soon.

SUIT IS FILED

Suit to collect $2500 with Isadore Berkowitz of Farrell a plaintiff and suit to collect $500 with M. L. Berkowitz of that city a co-plaintiff were filed today with Myer Zuokerman of Farrell the defendant. It is the contention of the plaintiff that due to the careless driving of the defendant they were injured July 1 of this year when the car of the defendant, driven by him, collided with another motor vehicle in Farrell.

Graf Zeppelin Is Back In Hangar

(International News Service)

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Sept. 18.—After a flight of 27 hours, during which she saluted her commander, Dr. Hugo Eckener, on the bridge of the Hamburg American Liner New York out at sea, the Dirigible Graf Zeppelin returned to her hanger here today.

The great ship floated down to earth at 7:15 a. m. (2 a. m. New York Daylight Saving Time.)

As the New York headed for the mouth of the River Elbe, the Graf swooped down over the sky and circled the liner's bridge, approaching so closely that Dr. Eckener could see his wife and other twenty-three passengers in the dirigible's gondola.

A laurel wreath was dropped on the ship from the dirigible in token of Dr. Eckener's recent flight around the world.

Potato Bugs Dwindling Fast Before Sprays And Parasites

State College Scientists Give Farmers Hope That If They Persist In The Fight, Picking Of Pests Will Soon Be Merely A Memory

BLOOMSBURG, Pa., Sept. 18.—Memories of picking "tater bugs" or using a stick to knock them into oil cans seem for the past and the present generations.

Inquiries directed to State College extension entomologists as to the reasons for the shortage of potato bugs throughout central Pennsylvania this summer brought the reply that the pest has gradually been dwindling in numbers, due to natural enemies and control measures.

Fifty years ago the Colorado potato beetle, commonly known as the "tater bug," swept across the East and devoured great quantities of vines. The damage reached immense proportions.

Experts explain that the chief reason for the decline since the war has been the increase in spraying operations.

Among the chief enemies of the potato bugs is a little parasitic fly. The soldier bug and ladybird beetles also are numbered among their foes.

Experts declare the farmer and not the parasites hold the balance of power in the future. It is necessary, they say, to continue the fight, since the pest attacks swiftly and if it appears in numbers through relaxation of control measures for a year or two, they will be harder to combat.

TELLS OF TRIP

New Castle, Pa.,
Sept. 16, 1929.

To the Editor,
New Castle News,
New Castle, Pa.
Dear Sir:

After having traveled six times across the United States from east to west and traveling extensively in California, Oregon and Washington, I was invited to accompany some friends on a trip to the lower valley of the Rio Grande river in Texas.

We reached the valley the morning of September 9 and began touring, visiting towns, ranches and every place of interest.

The part of the valley that is under irrigation and cultivation is approximately 60 miles long and 20 miles wide.

This valley owing to its wonderful rich soil, and soil-building water, gives a speedy growth to all vegetation. We were shown thousands of orange and grapefruit trees bearing large commercial crops at four years of age, the trees being as large as most trees seven and eight years old in other citrus growing countries.

All kinds of vegetables are grown here and shipped by carloads. Twenty-six thousand carloads shipped last year, also 2500 carloads of citrus fruits.

The soil and climate will permit of three crops a year.

Even corn is produced here of the finest quality, both green corn and hard matured corn, no worms in it as is usual in warm climates. We saw the matured corn by the large crib full and nearby one crib was a fine herd of 100 hogs, the largest one weighing 1100 pounds.

One of the most delightful things about this valley is its healthful climate. The Gulf of Mexico lies only 30 miles away and almost continually the breeze from the gulf makes living here most comfortable and desirable.

In visiting the many groves and homes we found a number of people who told us they had come here an invalid and had found perfect health, and one could not doubt their health to look at them.

Goiter is unknown here because of iodine salt element in the gulf breeze.

I would not fail to mention the decorative trees that line the highways and adorn the lawns and surroundings of homes. First the palm in several species, the pepper tree with such beautiful foliage, then the Ebony tree which is a wonder to all, then the Mesquite which is somewhat similar to the pepper tree, the Athel, bamboo and others, all somewhat of a hedge variety.

In closing I want to mention two of the cities of Texas, viz: San Antonio and Huston. We were amazed at the grandness of these cities, their municipal hotel, office buildings, some towering as high as the Washington monument at the national capital which is 555 feet high.

The evening we passed through Huston we were given our supper in the roof garden of a hotel 18 stories high. On top of this 18th story we were surrounded by many kinds of green shrubbery and fanned by the gulf breeze.

It was a wonderful trip and one long to be remembered.

Very truly yours,
W. H. ARMSTRONG.

The Story Of The World War
117—Dispute Over Food Control In Russia

IN 1916, WHILE THOUSANDS OF POORLY-ARMED RUSSIAN SOLDIERS WERE BEING SACRIFICED AT THE FRONT, THE INCOMPETENCE OF THE CZAR'S MINISTERS IN HANDLING FOOD SUPPLIES BROUGHT GREAT SUFFERING UPON THE CIVILIAN POPULATION. IN THE CITIES FOOD BECAME MORE SCARCE EVERY DAY, AND THE PEOPLE WERE FORCED TO WAIT FOR HOURS IN LONG LINES FOR A SCANTY RATION OF BREAD.

IN VAIN THE DUMA (THE RUSSIAN CONGRESS) AND THE MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENTS APPEALED TO THE CZAR TO HAND OVER THE CONTROL OF FOOD SUPPLIES TO A COMMISSION THAT WOULD HAVE THE CONFIDENCE OF THE PEOPLE. UPON THE ADVICE OF THE CZARINA AND THE MONK RASPUTIN, THE CZAR INSISTED UPON KEEPING ALL THE POWER TO HIMSELF.

THE DUMA OPENLY TOOK SIDES AGAINST THE CZAR AND HIS MINISTERS ON THE QUESTION OF FOOD CONTROL. LATE IN 1916 THE DUMA, WITH THE SUPPORT OF PUBLIC OPINION, DEMANDED A GOVERNMENT THAT WOULD BE RESPONSIBLE TO THE DUMA FOR ITS ACTIONS AND NOT TO THE CZAR.

THE CZAR WAS IN A QUANDARY. HIS ADVISERS URGED HIM TO CONCILIATE THE DUMA BY YIELDING TO ITS DEMANDS, WHILE THE CZARINA AND RASPUTIN EXHORTED HIM TO BE FIRM AND MAKE NO CONCESSIONS.

TOMORROW—THE MURDER OF RASPUTIN.

200 Rivers Of U. S. In Program For Waterways

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—The war department is prepar[ing] to lay before congress the first [com]prehensive surveys of potential water p[ower] and waterways development [to]wards of 200 navigable streams [of] the country, which reports may lay the foundation for the most complete and costly internal development ever authorized by the government.

After more than three years work, the war department has now finished surveys of approximately 70 streams, and some 700 engineers are rapidly bringing their work on others near completion.

Directed by congress to ascertain the potential water power of the nation—already known to be perhaps the greatest of any civilized nation—the survey is expected to reveal to congress and the country a true picture of needed rivers and harbors improvements and place new obstacles in the way of "pork barrel" appropriations for this work.

Flood Control.

With the interest of congress in nation-wide flood control awakened by the Mississippi flood disaster and the subsequent flood control act, the stream survey also is expected to give further impetus to the movement to stem flood waters and make them bear millions of tons of the nation's commerce.

The army engineers engaged in the work have called also upon geological experts, the Coast and Geodetic Survey, the agricultural department and other agencies of the government to obtain a true picture of the possibilities of stream development. More than $12,000,000 is being expended in the work.

Although congress realized the importance of regulation and control of interstate water power development by the creation of the federal power commission, the commission has received little support and scant attention from congress since its organization. Complaint has been made by power commission officials that they have lacked funds with which to make the proper investigation of applications for power development.

Power Trust Activity.

The activities of the so-called "power trust", as disclosed in the investigation of the federal trade commission, has raised the stream survey to a new plane of importance.

When the completed reports, showing that water power development of the nation has thus far embraced a comparative few of the many magnificent sites, new pressure is expected to be exerted into congress for the establishment of a definite water power policy.

The entire country has been divided into districts by the war department for the survey. The districts include:

Streams draining into the Atlantic ocean north of Cape Cod, including St. Croix and 10 other rivers; those between Cape Cod and New York harbor; Hudson river and tributaries, Delaware river and tributaries, streams draining into Chesapeake bay, streams entering the Gulf of Mexico, the Great Lakes, the Mississippi and tributaries, Ohio, Tennessee, Cumberland, Kanawha, Missouri, Columbia and others.

City Too Irksome For Old Trapper

Visitor Prefers Ice And Cold And Decides To Go To Far North Again

TWO RIVERS, Wis., Sept. 18. — A quarter-century of prospecting, trapping and trading in Alaska has made it impossible for Charles Filiez, formerly of Two Rivers, to sojourn in civilization. The pavements and restrictions of the city irked him on a recent visit to his old home and he is on his way back to the wildness where the temperature drops to 60 below and an occasional encounter with a grizzly bear enlivens life.

Filiez spent only a few days here, looking up old friends, but even that brief stay made him restless and uneasy.

Trapping is Filiez's chief occupation. He has engaged in many enterprises in the far North, including mining, but trapping, he said, is "more sure." He has five scattered cabins and travels from one to the other, carrying a tent and a "grubpack." He usually traps alone, taking mink, fox, lynx, wolf and bear.

"Trappers do some prospecting, too, in Alaska," he said. "We must get up into the country before the rivers freeze. We can't get out until they thaw, but there's trapping only from November 15 to March 15, so that leaves a lot of time to look for gold."

RESCUE BABE FROM HOME IN WOODS

Here's Mollie and her dolly 'n everything in her new Memphis home with her new papa and mamma. A few weeks ago Mollie, her mother, a brother and three sisters spent five days wandering in the woods near Brownsville, Tenn., after their home, a tenant house on a farm in Haywood county, Tennessee, had burned. Her father died several months ago, and her mother tried to carry on, but when the home was destroyed by fire, the mother took her brood to the woods for sheiter and food.

Perry Highway Change Probable

Highway Department May Have Pike Leave Near Sheakleyville

GREENVILLE, Sept. 18—The route of the Perry highway north of Sheakleyville has not been fixed but the indications are that it will not follow the "Pike" nor pass through Custards or Meadville.

The department of highways is of the opinion that a better route can be had north of Sheakleyville from many standpoints and in all probability will recommend a new route to Gov. Fisher as an established primary route can only be changed by order of the Chief Executive of the Commonwealth. The department also has an interesting suggestion for a road between Sheakleyville and Meadville.

This was learned by a representative of the Record-Argus in a conference with highway department officials at Harrisburg, though it is not the departments official utterance and not to be so construed.

The proposed route is not the final thought of the department but it is more than a mere tentative idea. The route has been and is now the subject of ispection and survey.

The route specified by the Sproul Act is that of the old Erie and Pittsburgh Pike, the route travelled by the Comodore Perry powder wagon—Pittsburgh, Zelienople, Portersville, Leesburg, Mercer, Sheakleyville, Custards, Meadville, Erie. From Sheakleyville north it passes through the village of Custards, across "the Marsh" or outlet of Conneaut Lake, over "Dutch Hill" to Kerrtown to Meadville, thence to Cambridge Springs and Erie. The Greenville-Conneaut Lake-Meadville paved road is intersected about one mile south of Kerrtown, Meadville and from that point is already paved to Erie being denominated by the federal government as U. S. Route 19.

The first suggested change between Sheakleyville and Meadville was to use the old route through Custards to the valley in Union township traversed by the Erie railroad and the Bessemer and Lake Erie's branch, the Meadville, Conneaut Lake and Linesville. There it was to turn eastwardly, cross French creek and intersect the Lakes-to-Seas highway at Shaw's in Mead township. The claim for this route was a saving in construction mileage and expense and the avoidance of some big hills.

Other routes and variations were considered until this new route was adopted in a general way.

The New Route.

Beginning at a point just north of Sheakleyville (the intersection of the Cochranton road and the McCracken school road), thence northward by the latter road past the McCracken school, Sandy Creek township, to the Crawford county line. Thence through Greenwood township, to or near Geneva, possibly clipping a corner off Union township, thence through Vernon township to Hayfield in the township of that name, following the Cussewago creek valley to Crossingville, thence to Lavery, Erie county, to Franklin Corners, whence a paved road leads to the city of Erie.

Dixon Runs Away In Butler Battle

(International News Service)

BUTLER, Pa., Sept. 18.—In the county treasurer primary, Homer Dixon corraled more votes from 39 districts reported out of 84, than his five Republican competitors combined. Lawrence Thompson, Republican candidate for sheriff, was far ahead in a field of six.

In 12 out of 17 precincts in the city, George Bob Wick, mayor, was able to count on a 115 vote margin over George B. Lambert for the Republican nomination for his present job. Roy Plaisted, Republican, ran ahead of eight candidates for the post of township treasurer.

World Clock Is Interest Centre

Attracts Much Attention At Exposition Now Under Way At Seville

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 18.—The "World Clock", designed by R. E. Gould of the bureau of standards, is attracting unusual attention at the Ibero-American Exposition at Seville, according to a report by Capt. Sidney Morgan, in charge of the commerce department's section at the exhibition.

The time-peace, constructed by a large international clock company in this country, is the source of numerous favorable comments from the heads of the visiting school delegations, as well as from officials of the Spanish government, Continental tourists, and all of the exposition visitors who see it, Captain Morgan states.

Standing nearly seven feet high in one of the most prominent parts of the commerce exhibition, the clock, itself of mahogany, is supported by a huge mahogany table, thus enabling the crowds to see the entire face of its handless dial, set flush in the large, close-fitting circular frame, and bearing the twenty-four hours of the day on its rim. The circular frame, painted flat-white like the face of a clock, bears on its inner rim the world's longitudinal subdivisions.

The normal 12 o'clock position on this frame is not the usually recognized position, but is the reference point for the time in Seville, and incidentally Greenwich. When the moving inner dial brings the figure 1 to the vertical position, or 12 o'clock on the ordinary time-piece, it is one o'clock in the morning in Seville. The time of any of the various countries may be seen by glancing at the longitude that governs their time, and by reading the scale of the hours on the inner dial as it matches against the scale of longitude on the frame.

Name Candidates For Councilmen

Close Election Contest At New Wilmington On Tuesday

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Sept. 18. — Primary balloting in New Wilmington was comparatively light with the closest counting coming on the county Republican sheriff fight and the local town council nominations.

Jack Dunlap received the favor of the college town by a margin of one vote over Frank N. Johnson. Mont L. Ailey was an almost two to one favorite and Jeannette W. Hutton received the greatest number of votes for nomination as register and recorder. M. C. Kennedy led the nominees for jury commissioner.

W. Fillmore Campbell was overwhelmingly nominated as town burgess and the following four men were selected to run as Republican candidates for borough council: J. C. Monroe, D. H. McQuiston, W. J. Stevenson, and J. Stewart Price.

The other borough results, resulted in Republican nominations of A. A. Taylor as borough auditor, R. S. Mercer as school director, John Wright, Jr., as tax collector, William McLaughry as judge of elections, and A. A. McDonald as inspector of elections.

The Democratic primary balloting was very slight registering only nine ballots.

Serious injury in the form of a broken arm visited the football squad of New Wilmington high school here yesterday afternoon. Lloyd Davis, half back, suffered a broken bone near the wrist in scrimmage action at the regular practice session. He will be lost to the squad for the season.

The closed garage door, running motor combination is already beginning to reap its annual fall harvest, according to the papers.

Hybrid Motor Built Of Junked Cars, Plane, Motorcycle, Sets Speed Record

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Sept. 18.—An automotive hybrid, boasting some of the features of an airplane, an automobile and a motorcycle, is now cruising the streets of Boston and mystifying pedestrians who fear they have a new type of perambulating menace to dodge.

The "Whatsit," as it has been fondly labeled by its ingenious owners and builders, Walter Cummings and Charles Hill, is six feet long and 48 inches wide and can attain a speed of 55 miles an hour.

Motive power is furnished by a four cylinder motor from a discarded motorcycle. It has a kick starter like a motorcycle but runs on wheels salvaged from an airplane. Frames from two motorcycle side-cars and motorcycle springs formed the nucleus of the coachwork.

An automobile radiator was pared to fit the vehicle and the gleaming aluminum hood of an old limousine houses the motor. To maintain the proper close harmony in the coach work, an expensive automobile which found its final resting place in a junk yard, gave up a polished aluminum top.

A few nuts and bolts to hold the component parts together and a special gear box were all the new parts necessary. A few months of spare time work and the proud owners were awarded an automobile license which permits them to scoot about at 55 miles an hour—some places—and get 40 miles to the gallon at that.

Copeland Leads In Greensburg

Judgeship Contest In County Brings Out Immense Vote

(International News Service)

GREENSBURG, Pa., Sept. 18. — Judge Charles D. Copeland, running both tickets, threw a monkey wrench into Harry F. Bovards highly touted an estimated majority of 7,000 votes over Robert Smith, his nearest Republican rival, in 110 out of 225 districts. John R. Kiester is running third.

On the Democratic ticket, Copeland tripled the vote for Ward Eicher.

The battle for district attorney is still at issue between Victor Bouton, of the Copeland force, Edward Bauer, an independent, and Benjamin Thompson, regular Republican.

Arthur Ewing, of Latrobe, looks to have the Republican nomination for clerk of courts. Herbert Wirsing will oppose him on the Democratic ticket. J. Arthur Thomas, Republican, is nominated for re-election as prothonotary.

Four candidates are bunched out of a field of twelve for the two Republican nominations for poor director, namely: William C. Carle, Edward Klingensmith, John S. Hamberg, and James L. Horning.

Decision Later In Appeal On Zoning

Gunton Hears Testimony In Protest On Erection Of Garage

At the special meeting of the board of zoning appeals held Tuesday afternoon in the city council chamber, Matthew Gunton, chairman of the board, was the only member present and heard the appeal taken by neighbors from the permit issued to D. M. Ritchie for the construction of a garage at his place of business at South Mill street and Reynolds street. This was the first instance since the organization of the board that but one member was present and heard the testimony in an appeal.

Attorney Frank A. Hover, another member of the board attended the executive session following the public hearing and the decision of Messrs. Gunton and Hover in the matter was that the decision of the board be withheld until later.

Quite a number of adjoining property owners were in attendance with their attorney and claimed that should the proposed garage, which is to be constructed on the Reynolds street frontage, be erected that it would damage their property and spoil their view.

The testimony of Mr. Ritchie was to the effect that the proposed garage would be 15 by 28 feet in size and would hold five cars including his funeral car. There is a one small garage at the property now, which is fifteen back from the Reynolds street property line. It is proposed that the new garage be erected flush with the property line on Reynolds street, and to the rear of the property facing on South Mill street.

The board in executive session decided to withhold its decision in the case until later. There are indications that the matter will reach a satisfactory status for all concerned and the appeal made by the owners of neighboring properities may be withdrawn.

Medical scientists have figured there are 400 ways to commit suicide, or 472 inclusive of current brands of Scotch.

IN GREAT DEMAND

A movie director was discussing with a woman the difficulty of filling a particular part in a forthcoming play.

"I want," he said, "a young man who looks like Lindbergh, is tall, blue-eyed and has sex appeal, a sense of humor and an air of distinction."

"So do I," she sighed.—Tit-Bits.

Tonnage Hauled By Pennsy Is Greater

Say This Month's Business Overshadows That Of Last September

LOCAL PLANTS ARE PARTLY RESPONSIBLE

September freight business over the Erie and Ashtabula division of the Pennsylvania railroad is considerably heavier than it was during the corresponding period of 1928. It was learned at the local superintendent's office today.

While no enormous gains in the volume of tonnage have been noticed for some time it is declared by officials that business of a year ago is greatly overshadowed by the freight traffic now passing over the New Castle lines. Seasonable shipments such as coal and ore from the lake districts are giving impetus to the regular business that is hauled.

With business at such a flourishing state, employment likewise continues good. It will be remembered that every furloughed employe of the division was recalled to duty late last spring. Since that time none have been released, but the case is just opposite, more have been summoned. No additional help has been employed for some time but the division continues in operation with one of the largest forces that has ever manned the shipments.

Pennsylvania officials here lay one cause for the increase in freight at our own doors. With numerous New Castle plants resuming operations, it was natural that tonnage would grow heavier. Increases have been noticed both in output and inbound shipments, officials say.

Deny Waggoner To Make Use Of Insanity Plea

(International News Service)

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Sept. 18.—Denial that Charles Delos Waggoner, 54, president of the Bank of Telluride, Colo., intends to use insanity as a defense was made here today by Samuel D. Crump, Denver attorney representing Waggoner, who is charged with the New York Bank swindle.

Waggoner is held in the Laramie County jail pending his removal to New York on a charge of using the mails to defraud in connection with his alleged $500,000 swindle against six New York banks through faked telegrams sent from Denver.

Mrs. Mary Waggoner, the banker's wife, and his son Delos left late yesterday for New York. They, together with other Colorado citizens, have been subpoenaed to appear before the New York grand jury now in session.

Stagecoach Driver Recalls Wild West

Survivor Of Early Days In The Black Hills Remember Bad Men

DEADWOOD, S. D., Sept. 18.—One of the few surviving stagecoach drivers in the Black Hills when the Hills were infested by bay men and bloodthirsty Indians is J. S. McClintock of Deadwood, who still is a familiar figure on the street of the city in the building of which he played an important role. He has spent fifty-three years here and was familiar with many of the noted and notorious characters of the "wooly" days.

As a boy in Missouri, young McClintock listened to tales of the West and longed to take part in its settlement. His father had helped blaze the Ashley trail from Independence, Mo., to Santa Fe, N. M., in 1832, and young McClintock heard many stirring tales. When the Civil War broke out he was thirteen years old. At that age he drifted to Montana, lured by placer gold mining. Later he came to the Black Hills to engage in the same occupation, but make no fortune over night.

For a time Mr. McClintock ran a hack between Central City, Lead and Deadwood and then for thirty years operated a stage line between Deadwood and Spearfish. His business made him acquainted with Wild Bill, Jack McCall, Calamity Jane, Poker Alice, Flilday the Chink, and many more such characters.

Mr. McClintock says that though stagecoach robberies were frequent, every bit of stolen gold was recovered and nearly without exception every robber was punished in short order.

Canada May Help Check Booze Flow

(International News Service)

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 18.—The Canadian government is thinking of giving Uncle Sam a hand in checking the flow of booze across the border into the United States.

The Dominion expects to prohibit the granting of clearances for cargoes of liquor to the United States. Urgent requests for a law to this effect have been received from all parts of Canada.

As matters now stand, rum-runners need make no secret that the liquor which they intend to export is bound for the United States. There is no statute allowing officials to refuse a clearance to any one particular country.

Legislation to be enacted shortly, however, will authorize refusal of clearances when liquor is destined for the United States. Liquor export to other countries will not be affected.

The concentration of United States dry forces at Detroit and other points along the border has cut down the running of beer to a great extent this year and the smuggling of hard liquor to a lesser extent, export figures show. However, during August, 42,640 more quarts of liquor were exported to the United States than in July this year, official figures reveal. This indicates that rum running is again on the increase.

Pirates Winning Streak Worrying Chicago

Giants And Cubs To Clash Again

Mel Ott And Bill Terry Trying To Block Hornsby's Climb

CUBS DROP TWO TILTS TO ROBINS

By HENRY McLEMORE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Should Pittsburgh be so thoughtless of the boys and girls along the Boul Mich as to keep on winning it may be three or four more days before Chicago fans can sleep peacefully knowing that the National flag is safely out of the clutches of mathematics.

For the Giants, those boys whose love for the Cubs is akin to that dear devotion existing between sailors and marines, are in the Windy City for four games. And no doubt determined to make a clean sweep. For in addition to the joy that prolonging the agony of the Cubs would bring, McGraw's men have several other little matters to settle, including Mel Ott's desire to break Hornsby's home run record and Bill Terry's ambition to stop the Rajah in the batting column.

Ott today has 39 and the current series may see him set a new mark. Terry's mark of .378 is seven percentage points better than Hornsby's average and a four good days at bat would go a long way in seeing him ahead at the finish.

Cubs Vanquished.

Yesterday the Robins toppled the Cubs twice 8 to 7 and 9 to 6.

Pittsburgh prevents the Cubs from clinching by tripping Philadelphia again, this time by 11 to 7, a perfectly natural score. An eight-run rally in the seventh aided the Pirates no little.

Other National league clubs were not scheduled.

Rain played havoc in the American, forcing a calling off of the St. Louis-Philadelphia tilt, the second game between Detroit and Washington and the Yankee-Indian affair. Washington managed to slip in a 4 to 1 win over Detroit in the opener. In the only other game Boston rolled the White Sox, 6 to 4.

Church League Is Appreciative

Discuss Plans For 1930 And Issued Thanks To Aiding Persons

Officials and managers of the New Castle Church League held their last meeting at the Y. M. C. A. and during the general discussions suggestions were made to make the league better when it opens next spring. After the suggestions business was transacted and the officials and board of managers issued thanks to various persons in helping the organization along its successful road.

The thanks were given to Superintendent Kleckner, Lehigh Cement, Councilman D. O. Davies, Councilman Reeves, The News, Peter Capicola, I. A. A.; the board of commissioners, A. C. Hyde, C. C. Coulthard, Jack Herbert and the board of managers.

The umpires were voted appreciation and it is said the outlook for next season is bright.

Allegheny Makes Ready For Geneva

MEADVILLE, Pa., Sept. 17.—Recent scrimmage took its toll in the Allegheny College football squad, when Bernard McManus, stellar guard, who was selected by one of the Boston sport scribes last year on his all-eastern team, received a leg injury which will keep him out of practice for several days. More serious injury was received by Walter Jones, the big candidate for center from Duquesne high school, who was forced from the scrimmage because of an injury to his arm. The extent of the injury is still uncertain, but it is feared that the X-ray will reveal a splintered bone. Jones will undoubtedly be kept out of practice for several weeks, and maybe for even a longer time.

Coach Crum was dissatisfied with the work of his varsity team and stated today that all jobs are open. He plans to drive evenly balanced teams against each other in several hard scrimmages this week to determine which men will be started against Geneva College in the opening game of the season here September 28.

Lehigh Is Winner In Series Opener

Tin Mill Boys, Contenders For Championship, Weaken Under Attack

CITY MUSHBALL TITLE AT STAKE

Taking a lead in the very first inning of the game, the Lehigh Cement mushball team retained its hold over the Tin Mill aggregation last night long enough to win the first tilt of the city championship series. When the seventh period ended the score was 5 to 4 in the Cement boys' favor.

The series will be the best out of three and the second game is scheduled to be played on Thursday night.

W. Kroen, J. Kroen and Ross proved heavy sluggers for the victors. W. Kroen having slugged a "homer" during the most exciting period of the fray. Ross and J. Kroen each knocked a three-bagger. While W. Kroen hit hard for Lehigh, the Tin Mill had a dangerous threat in the person of McBride. He scored a home run, too.

Rich, pitching for the Lehigh, allowed the Tin Mill crew but six hits while Jenkins of the losers gave the Lehigh seven.

Throughout the first season of the summer schedule the Tin Mill proved victorious while during the second half honors went to the Lehigh. Now they are fighting the final to a finish and leaders of both teams are confident of winning the pennant.

World Series May Bring New Coombs Or Collins Like 1910 A's-Cub Tilt

JACK COOMBS AND, INSET, EDDIE COLLINS

By WILLIAM RITT
Central Press Sport Editor.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16—Old enemies—once more to be at war—are the Chicago Cubs and Philadelphia Athletics.

History repeating itself is on the verge of bringing together again the two contending teams of 1910., And what's more to the point the similarity between the world series about to be played and the fall classic of 1910 does not end there.

The 1910 Athletics went into the series with a great pitcher as their ace. He was Chief Bender, the Lefty Grove of his day.

But Bender failed, winning one and losing one game in the series. Instead of Bender, Jack Coombs starred in the box for the Mackmen 19 years ago. Jack hurled three wins, turning in three as pretty performances as world series crowds can hope to see. Coombs allowed 10 hits in one game but kept them so scattered the Cubs scored only two runs.

Cubs' Pitchers Failed.

The Cubs had fine pitchers in Mordecai (Three-Finger) Brown, Ed Reulbach, Orvie Overall and Jack Pfeister, but they couldn't do a thing with the Macks, Brown winning the only victory for the Bruins.

At this point there is growing belief that Grove, having borne the burden of Athletic mound leadership throughout the American league campaign, cannot be expected to be at his best in the October series. In which case either Rube Walberg or George Earnshaw may possibly turn out to be the Jack Coombs of today.

With the Athletics in 1910 was a bright young infield star, eager for the test of his first world series. He was Eddie Collins, whose counterpart today is Jimmy Foxx.

Collins' batting in the series was superb, his average being .429 for the five games. He stole four bases, hit safely nine times, smacked three doubles and scored five runs.

Foxx a Collins?

Whether Foxx can be an Eddie Collins in a world series remains, of course, to be seen.

So far this story has been all Athletic. So let it be said that at the head of the Cub machine this year is the man resembling nearest the late Frank Chance, peerless leader of the old champion Cubs, ownership could find.

Joe McCarthy this season has proven that he possesses the same fighting fire and managerial sagacity that made Chance the leader of four National league championship teams and two world championship outfits. He's the most popular Cub manager since Chance.

And to complete the similarity between the two series, there is—of course—at the head of the 1929 Athletics our old friend, Mr. Mack.

A'S-CUBS IN 1910

First game: Philadelphia 4, Chicago 1. Batteries: Bender and Thomas; Overall, McIntyre and Kling.

Second game: Philadelphia 9, Chicago 3. Batteries: Coombs and Thomas; Brown, Ritchie and Kling.

Third game: Philadelphia 12, Chicago 5. Batteries: Coombs and Thomas; Ruelbach, McIntyre, Pfeister and Kling.

Fourth game: Chicago 4, Philadelphia 3 (10 innings). Batteries: Cole, Brown and Archer; Bender and Thomas.

This Boxer Sure Caused Surprise

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Johnny Bonito, Yankers bantam, may never scale the boxing heights but he has the satisfaction today of knowing that at once in his life he "panicked" the customers at Madison Square Garden.

Johnny's act that "rolled them in the aisles" came last night when he stepped into the ring for a bout in the amateur affairs that are now in swing. Johnny climbed into the ring wrapped in a ponderous bathrobe. He tossed it lightly aside and the Garden went into hysterics. For there stood little Johnny in the nude—having in the excitement of preparing for battle forgotten to don his trunks.

Still, the "ferocious" tiger killing a deer doubtless feels much as man does while killing a beef.

Pirates Topple Phillies Again

Come From Behind To Bunch Hits And Pile Up Score Of 11 To 7

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 18.—After the Phils had led the Pirates, 5 to 3, the Pirates burst forth with a bunch of hits in the seventh inning and eight runs were made during the session, which gave the Pirates a 11 to 7 victory. The Phils used Smythe, Elliott, Willoughby and Milligan against the hard-clouting Pirates. The box score:

Grid Camp Briefs

(International News Service)

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 18.—Yale teams will use both the huddle and the signal system in this year's gridiron campaign, Head Coach Mal Stevens has announced. Eli teams of recent years have used the huddle system exclusively.

PRINCETON, N. J., Sept. 18.—Coach Bill Roper will today continue experimenting with the large squad that answered Princeton's early football call, in an attempt to sort out the men for positions best suited them. Yesterday's showers failed to halt the Tigers, Roper putting them through a 90-minute drill.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Sept. 18.—The most important position on the Columbia football team, that of quarterback, is still in doubt with but little more than a week remaining before the first game. A merry battle for the signal calling job is being waged by Phil Liflander and Charley Joyce.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Sept. 18.—Despite the light nature of the work so far, 14 of the 60 members of Navy's varsity football squad are on the hospital list. Fortunately, the injuries are in most cases light.

FARMINGDALE, N. Y., Sept. 18.—Coach Chick Meehan today was almost convinced that his N. Y. U. Violets are not good "mudders". For yesterday's scrimmage on a wet field found the varsity able to do very little with the scrubs. Herman Lamark, soph back, was the only varsity ball carrier who was good for consistent gains.

NOTRE DAME, Ind., Sept. 18.—The Irish were all smiles due to the presence of a host of movie camera men, including one sound picture crew at the field yesterday. The place looked like a Hollywood lot with Coach Rockne in the role of director.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 18.—Howdy Eyth, the country boy from Mars, should make up for some of the lost glory of which injuries robbed him in the last Carnegie Tech season. If his performance as running halfback fills its promise, he should fit snugly into the shoes vacated by Glenn Moorehead.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 18.—Ujhelyi, guard of last year's squad, was shifted to fullback in yesterday afternoon's practice at Stadium field. Willaman is counting on developing the big hammer thrower into plunges to fit in with the new backfield.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 18.—Duquesne's squad is heeling to make the lineup for the opening with Edinboro State college. Coach Elmer Layden expects to announce the names of the chosen ones within a very few days.

Burns And McKenna Is 'Natural' Match

Firpo Refused To Meet Burns And McKenna Boxed Firpo Draw; Jack De Neri Goes Against Classy Dandy Allen; Romeo To Meet Sorrel-Top Irish Lad; Expect Big Crowd At Bowl Monday.

By ED FRITZ.

Fans will wend their way in thousands next Monday night to Jolly Bowl to see one of the best middleweight bouts of the month, as Johnny Burns the California Italian-American has been matched to tight Jack McKenna, Canadian.

According to reports from California and Chicago where Burns has fought repeatedly he is borned as a successor to Mickie Walker middleweight champion of the world. McKenna fought Henry Firpo recently at Cleveland. He floored Firpo in the first and got a draw decision.

The articles of agreement signed yesterday by Tom Walsh, in behalf of Burns and Eddie Mead representing McKenna call for the boxers to weigh 160 pounds, the middleweight limit at 3 o'clock the day of the bout. They will end training here Sunday afternoon.

The Italian-American, one of the best boxers and heftiest punchers in the 160-pound division is a star. He boxed Rene De Vos, the Belgian recently in Chicago for which he received $5,000. DeVos took five rounds, Burns four and the other was even.

Tom Walsh, pilot of such famous fighters as Ted Morgan, Speedy Dado, Al Greenfield, Al Crisp and Fay Kosky while in eastern territory and who handled Burns declares the worst that the Californian should have received was a draw.

Good Semi-Final.

Jack De Neri, the clever featherweight of Cleveland has been matched to fight Dandy Allen of Philadelphia. De Neri won a technical knockout over his last opponent. Allen is a clever boxer and should give De Neri plenty of fighting.

Romeo Pacelli the local flash and Tommy Duffy a sorrel-topped Irish lad of Cleveland will appear in the first six-round bout. The Italian-American is a counter fighter, shifty and a good puncher. Duffy is reputed to carry a terrific "kick" in his right.

Roy Minteer has changed back to his old aggressive style and is in good shape right now for Joe Folans of Beaver Falls. Young Ciby of the Fifth ward and Young Murphy of the First ward will go on in the first four round bout.

Persons who purchased tickets for the Fay Koskey-Willie Michiel fight which has been postponed until later will find the pasteboards good for Monday night's fight. The advance sale has already started for Monday night's encounter.

Italians Win Second Game Of Titular Series

Hand Pennsylvania Railroaders A Shutout In Third Battle For Championship

FOURTH GAME WILL BE PLAYED THURSDAY

By CHARLES LANDOLF

Good pitching, errorless fielding, accompanied by nine hits, enabled the fast-stepping I. A. A. baseball team to trounce the Pennsy team, first half pennant winners in the Lawrence County League, the second time in one week. The Italians thus advanced one notch nearer to the championship, shutting out the P. R. R. nine, 5-0, at Centennial field last night. Houston, the winning pitcher, yielded but four scattered hits.

The fourth game of the championship series will be played at Centennial field on Thursday night. If the Italians win the series will be over. To date the second half champs have won two games and tied one. After Thursday's game the entire team of the Italian club will be guests of Peter Capitola at a banquet.

The Italians worked on Rodenbaugh in the second inning for a pair of runs. "Bub" Jones started the chapter by receiving a walk. Earl advanced Jones to second on a sacrifice hit. Hood scored Jones with a single to left. Rodgers scored Hood when he singled. The inning ended when Reider flied out to Robinson, who made a spectacular catch of his hard hit ball.

The third inning saw the Italians crossing the rubber for another pair of runs. Jones, first man up, reached first on his second walk of the game. Jones stole second, and a minute later scored on Earl's two-base hit. Earl scored when Rodgers hit a single but was out when he attempted to stretch the hit to a double, ending the inning.

The I. A.'s scored their final tally of the game in the fifth inning when Jones singled and reached second on a stolen base. Rodgers scored Jones on his third hit of the game. This ended the scoring. Houston, the winning pitcher, was never in danger and pitched well throughout.

The winners played good ball in every department. The fielding was errorless throughout the game. The hitting was also a feature, as the hits came when they meant runs. "Bub" Jones, in center for the Italians, played his customary good game, making four good catches. He also got one hit. For the winners the playing of Jones, Earl, Rodgers and Diffley featured, while Baker and Huff played the best for the losers.

The summary of the game follows:

Three men identified with the Chicago Cubs and Philadelphia Athletics, prospective opponents in the world series, also participated in the last world series in 1910 between the Cubs and Athletics. Connie Mack was then as now manager of the Athletics. Joe Tinker, who scouted A's for Cubs this year, was the star shortstop of the 1910 Cubs, while Eddie Collins, Athletic coach and possible pinch hitter in the 1929 series, was starred at bat and at second for the A's in the 1910 series.

Sport Kings Trump Queens

It is always interesting to compare the relative ability of the first flight women and men players in sports—particularly in those two great games—golf and tennis.

In golf women face the handicap of strength when pitted against men players of equal ranking. It takes power to send the little white pellet to or beyond the 250-yard marker, despite the cry of the experts that only timing and technique are needed. And it is this lack of distance on the long shots that marks the difference in top ranking women and men golfers.

A few years ago Glenna Collett, America's golf queen, played an interesting match against Cyril Tolley, British amateur star, in which the latter allowed her a stroke on the even holes. It was too much of a handicap for Tolley to overcome. Miss Collett winning at the home hole. As a matter of fact, Miss Coolett could have won that match with only six strokes handicap, for on three of the handicap holes she did not need the allowance. It is estimated that a handicap of six bisques—strokes privileged to be taken wherever the beneficiaries elect—constitute the difference in first flight women and men golfers.

The disparity between men and women is even greater on the tennis court. This has been shown time and time again by the ease with which ranking men players have defeated women stars. Some years ago, when Mlle. Lenglen was at the crest of her wizardry, she played an unofficial match with Big Bill Tilden. Bill toyed with Suzanne, purposely letting her win the first two points of each game, and then putting on the pressure to win in straight sets, 6-0, 6-0.

Our own Helen Wills, marvelous player that she is, wouldn't have the ghost of a chance against any one of the male players ranked in the first 20. Her win, some time ago, over Fritz Mercur, can be recorded as a gallant gesture. The age of chivalry is not yet dead.

Truly our Sport Kings trump the Queens!

UNIFORM AUTO LAWS ARE URGED

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 18.—Harassed by "no left turn" signs in some cities and "no right turn" signs in others, speed laws of 35 miles an hour maximum in one state and no maximum in another, badgered by a hundred different rules and regulations in every locality, motorists of the country will be given relief by uniform laws, if recommendations of the executive committee of the American Automobile association are carried out.

"The increasing number of auto accidents can be attributed at least in part to the diversity of traffic rules," Thomas P. Henry of Detroit, president of the national A. A. A., told the executive committee meeting in Philadelphia.

"Millions of dollars a year are lost to merchants through slowing deliveries because of this fact. A uniform code was prepared two years ago by Herbert Hoover while secretary of commerce. So far, this code has been adopted by only 200 cities, and we will make vigorous attempts to bring the entire country to adherance."

NEW YORK STOCKS

MORGAN AND DREXEL GROUP ARE LEADERS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—The Morgan-and-Drexel group of utility stocks led the market in a moderate upturn of prices this morning. Outside of these favorites the most important incident was the 8½ point jump of American Tel and Tel to 303, a point under the high price of the year.

The call money renewal rate was marked up to 9 per cent showing effects of the government's mid-month financing.

Public Service of New Jersey sold up 4 points at 132¾, United Gas improvement up a point at 58¼ and United Corp fractionally higher on reports of a gigantic hooking up of these properities, under the direction of the Morgan bankers.

American Can boomed along briskly to 178½, for a gain of 4½ points and U. S. Steel rose 3 points to 237, principally at the expense of a trapped short interest, International Tel and Tel recovered all the ground lost yesterday. Mr. Loree's new 17-road merger proposal had little effect on railroad shares, though Delaware and Hudson the proposed king pin of the Eastern Transportation Amalgamation sold up a few points.

Some sections of the market appeared to have settled back sufficiently to have shaken out weak-kneed speculators and to be ready to resume their advance. This was true of the independent steels, which moved up briskly under the lead of Crucible and Vanadium. Copper stocks were sluggish and oils slightly reactionary, as the result of an unexpected increase in the weekly total of crude oil output. On the whole, however, tightening of the money bags had the natural effect of holding back buying demand from important sources.

Mercantile stocks under the lead of Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck and Associated Dry Goods sold at slightly higher price levels in the second hour.
